GUN MEN ARE DENIED NEW TRIAL BY SUPREME COURT

Four Men Condemned to Die Tomorrow for the Murder of Herman Rosenthal, Have No Possible Chance to Stay the Hand of Justice—Decision of Justice Goff is Final, and the Electric Chair is Ready.

New York, April 11.—The last hope of the four gunmen condemned to die Monday for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, seemingly was blasted tonight when Supreme Court Justice John W. Goff, to whom a final appeal for a new trial had been made, declined to re-open their case.

At a prolonged hearing today, Justice Goff, who was the presiding judge at the gunmens' trial, listened to the testimony of new witnesses produced at the last moment by counsel for the dcomed men. Late in the afternoon, after District Attorney Charles S. Whitman had been given his opportunity to offset the newly-offered evidence with testimony by witnesses of his own Justice Goff took the case under advisement, announcing that he would render a decision tonight.

For more than four hours, the justice toiled over the record of the day's proceedings. Then shortly before 10 o'clock he appeared at the door of his chambers and briefly and quietly announced to the waiting crowd of newspaper men that he had denied the application for a new trial, stating merely that his opinion would be given out as soon as copies of it could be prepared.

Justice Goff in his opinion denying a new trial, cited that the application had been referred to him because the law requires that motion for a new trial be made before the justice who presided at the trial.

Pointing out that on behalf of the defendants, 19 affidavits had been presented, the court declared that 15 should be disregarded as consisting "mainly of hearsay, impressions and matters that are irrelevant and immaterial."

Of the other four affidavits, those of Dresner, Burwell, Kalmanson and Reo must not be "considered as of any probative value whatever. Consideration of these four affidavits must include the oral examination and cross-examination had in open court."

The Final Decision.

Continuing the decision said:

"The point of importance dwelt upon by Dresner was that he was present on the thirteenth of July, 1912, outside the Garden restaurant, when he heard Rose say to Vallon and Webber, as Rosenthal emerged from the restaurant, 'There he comes. Go and put it over him.' That Dresner understanding what that meant crossed the street to avoid danger and that Rose took him for a private detective. Rose did not so testify in the trial. What Rose testified to was, 'It began to look too much like business, and I called Louie aside and I said, pointing to a man across the street: 'Do you see that fellow over there?' He said, 'Yes.' I said: 'I am almost positive that is a private detective that District Attorney Whitman has assigned to watch Rosenthal.' They took the hint and departed and went home.'

"This testimony of Dresner bears the unmistakable stamp of being made to fit Rose's testimony. It is somewhat remarkable that notwithstanding the apprehension of Dresner that something dire was going to happen, nothing did happen because of the words alleged to have been uttered by Rose.

"While the testimony of Rose at the trial concerning the incident at the Garden restaurant was competent to show preparation and combination on the part of the main defendants for the commission of a crime it was merely a step in the progression of proof and a contradiction of that, even if true, would of itself be wholly insufficient to warrant the granting of a new trial. This witness went on to narrate as he says what he observed on the morning of the 16th when Rosenthal was killed. He did not testify that he saw the killing or heard shots, notwithstanding he was in 43rd street at the time of the killing and the passing of the automobile. He claims to have identified Vallon, Webber and Scheppa in the passing automobile. It is remarkable that this witness should be found to be present at those two important times, that is, on the 13th at the Garden restaurant and on the 16th on 43rd street at the time of the killing. Intrinsically this testimony is unworthy of credence, and if there was any element for that conviction it is furnished by the witness himself, inasmuch as knowing the widespread notoriety given to the murder of Rosenthal, and a knowledge on his part of the importance of his testimony, he refrained from coming forward and making known to counsel for the defendants or to the district attorney what he had heard and observed.

Only Reason for Failure.

"The only reason he assigns for his failure is that he was in fear of his life; of whom he was afraid he does not state and his failure where a human was involved to come forward as a witness until the last hour when opportunity for examination or contradiction is not given, is a circumstance of invention so strong that no reliance can be placed upon his testimony.

"Burwell testified that when in 43rd street on the morning of Rosenthal's death, he heard two shots and saw the man who fired the shots in turn. He said, he did not know the man. The point of his testimony rests on his statement that neither of the four defendants was the man who fired the shots. Burwell never saw either one of the four defendants, and the only knowledge he has of them was derived from his seeing some pictures purporting to represent the defendants in a clipping from a newspaper.

"It is unnecessary to dwell for a moment on the utter insecurity of such testimony as tending to anything like accurate identification. The mere negative statement that the man who fired the shots was not one of the four gunmen whose faces are outlined in a newspaper, without any evidence that such outlines are true and correct representations of the defendants and in the face of positive testimony that the defendants fired the shots is worthless.

"Identification from portraits, of itself is risky and dangerous and without some supporting or connecting evidence should not be given much weight in a court of law. But identification by newspape cutr to yet a greater extreme and no value should be attached to it. This witness, like Dresner maintained silence until the last hour, notwithstanding that he knew of the public interest and excitement in the case.

Alibi of No Use.

"Reo testified to the delivery of a note from a female friend of Cirofici at his house. The only bearing that this testimony can have is the alibi interposed by Cirofici at the trial. Evidence to sustain an alibi on a motion for a new trial, where the alibi has been passed on by a jury, is according to all the authorities, standing alone and unsupported by unquestionable proof of little or no value.

"This witness like the preceding witnesses did not come forward until the last hour, to give his testimony, though he had been questioned by a deputy commissioner of police to whom he admitted he lied in respect to the delivery of this letter.

"Kalmanson testified that he was in 43rd street, saw an automobile and recognized Vallon standing on the running board holding a pistol in his hand. He did not know Vallon, had never seen him and the only means of recognition that he had was that two months later he saw in a Cleveland newspaper a picture purporting to be that of Harry Vallon. This testimony is worthless. This witness also maintained silence until after the decision of the court of appeals in the Becker case.

"Briefly have I touched on the prin-

WILSON TAKES LIFE EASY

President Receives Report of Admiral Mayo From Tampico, But Makes No Statement to Public.

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Apr. 11.—Though press dispatches and official messages describing incidents at Tampico in connection with the arrest of American marines were before President Wilson tonight, he divulged no information.

After playing golf in the morning and taking a buckboard ride in the afternoon, the President secluded himself in his suite of rooms with his family, and no one saw him. At first the President showed a disinclination even to receive any information about the Mexican situation, sending word that he came here to rest and did not intend to discuss official business.

Later press dispatches were shown him saying Admiral Mayo's complete report of the incidents at Tampico had been forwarded here to determine if the Unfted States were satisfied with the Huerta apology and informing him that a salute to the flag had been demanded. The President received the news without comment.

While the President remained aloof from everybody, spending his time with Mrs. Wilosn, who is improving rapidly, Secretary McAdoo and Miss Eleanor Wilson, future White House bride and groom, played several sets of tennis with Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bowes Sayre, who were married at the White House lost November. A large gallery watched them play.

It is considered settled now that the wedding will be held at the White House the first week in May. An even earlier wedding might have been held, it is believed, but for Mrs. Wilson's illness.

The President will leave here tomorrow night for Washington, but Mrs. Wilson and other members of the family will remain for an exeended tsay.

STOOD TOO CLOSE TO TRACK.

Negro Student Killed by A. C. L. Train at Fayetteville.

Fayetteville, N. C., April 11.—Geo. Currie, 18-year-old student in the State Colored Normal School here, died in Highsmith hospital this morning about 1 o'clock, as a result of injuries received last night when he was run down by an A. & Y. freight train, which cut off both his legs.

According to the account of the horrible accident said to have been given by Currie following the tragedy, he strolled out to the railroad track from the school to see the train pass. He took a position beside the track, never thinking that he was dangerously close. The engine struck him and knocked him on to the rail, with the result that both feet were severed. He was taken to the hospital, where he died several hours later. Currie was from Dundarroch, in the upper edge of Robeson county.

MAY NOT REACH ANTI-TRUST BILLS

Next Session of Congress to Cope With Question.

NEW PLANS ARE MADE

Democratic Leaders In Both Branches of Congress Practically Agree That Action at Present Session Impossible.

Washington, April 11.—Anti-trust legislation supplementary to the Sherman act probably will not be undertaken at this session of Congress on the broad scale originally outlined by the administration. This became known here tonight, Democratic Senate and House leaders agreeing that a practical solution of the vexatious problem to cope with evils of big business through legislation had been suggested.

The plan, it was asserted, is to pass one bill which would create an inter-State trade commission with broad powers to investigate affairs of corporations and with specific authorization to inquire into the relation to commerce of interlocking directorates, holding companies, stock watering, the issuance of railroad securities and price discriminations which tend to destroy competition. The commission would recommend to the next Congress what further trust regulative legislation it deemed advisable for the welfare of the country.

Such a culmination of an inti-trust legislative programme originally suggested by President Wilson in a special messae to Conress has been working out in conference between the President and Senate and House leaders for many weeks. The task tentatively outlined in bills proposed assumed proportions that precluded its accomplishment, leaders believed, in view of other legislative problems confronting Congress, and also because of the many conbicting opinions of men in the councils of the dominant party as to just what should be done.

Hold Many Conferences.

After many conferences of Democratic and Republican Senators who in turn have conferred with members of the House inter-State commerce and judiciary committees, a tentative amendment to the Senate bill to create an inter-State trade commission has been drawn, designed to take the place of proposed bills to prohibit or regulate interlocking directorates, holding companies, stock waterings; to provide for government reulation of the issuance of railroad securities and to solv ethe problem of destructive price discrimination. It would provide that all these problems be referred to the proposed inter-State trade commission directin an exhaustive study of the subject for the information of Congress.

President Wilson, it became known tonight, has had this solution of the problem presented to him, and administration leaders declare he has looked on it with favor. The President tonight could not be reached at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., White House officials declined to comment on the reports.

Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, a member of the sub-committee of the inter-State commerce committee, especially assigned to work out the trust legislative programme, made a frank statement tonight of his view of the matter.

"There are some radical differences," said Senator Robinson, "between the trade commission bill soon to be reported by the House committee on inter-State and foreign commerce and that which the Senate committee has tentatively agreed on. We of the Senate committee, who have had some part in the preparation of the bill believe a trade commission should be vested with broad powers and, as a result of this belief it may be expected that a bill soon will be reported which will make the commission in many respects an independent body with liberal powers."

STRICKEN WITH PARALYSIS.

Mrs. Thompson, Mother of Dr. N. A. Thompson, at Lumberton.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Lumberton, N. C., April 11.—Mrs. Julia Thompson, mother of Dr. N. A. Thompson, suffered a stroke of paralysis yesterday evening at 5 o'clock, and tonight she is in a serious condition. She is in her 77th year.

KNOCKED INTO TAR RIVER

South Carolina Man Almost Instantly Killed by A. C. L. Passenger Train at Tarboro.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Tarboro, N. C., April 11.—Geo. F. Cain, of White Oak, S. C., bridge structural worker for the Atlantic Coast Line, was almost instantly killed here today when, attempting to descend from a bridge on which he was working, his head was struck by the pilot of a passenger engine, knocking him into Tar river.

After a few strokes he sank to the bottom. His body was recovered four hours later. Cain had been employed by the railroad for a number of years and was about 35 years of age. The remains were taken to his home town for interment.

New York, April 11.—The statement of the actual condition of clearing house banks and trust companies for the week (five days), shows that they hold $18,732,950 reserve in excess of legal requirements. This is an increase of $8,279,450 from last week.

BIG FIGHT WILL BE OVER FLAT REPEAL

Every Possible Argument Will Be Brought Forward

O'GORMAN IS TO SPEAK

Chairman of Inter-oceanic Canals Committee Expects to Use Some Forceful Argument Before His Committee.

Washington, April 11.—The heaviest artillery which opponents of the repeal of the Panama toll exemption of American ships can bring to bear will be trained against the administration's flat repeal policy before the Senate committee on inter-oceanic canals next week. Every possible argument that can be raised is to be brought forward in the hope of prevailing on the committee to make an adverse report on the bill as it passed the House, and failing in that, to lay a foundation for continuing the fight in the Senate itself.

In addition to the general opposition to absolute repeal there will be arguments by Democratic Senators who agree that exemption for American ships is in violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty and that the government should reverse its policy, but hope the means of bringing this result about can be tempered with an amendment re-asserting the sovereignty of the United States over the Panama Canal.

Whatever may be the report of the canals committee—and there is a possibility that several proposed measures may be reported without recommendation—administration and opposition leaders concede that the first fight will be over an effort to amend the Sims bill which passed the House. Champions of the President's position insist that there will be no compromise. They adhere to their confident predictions that tolls exemption for American coastwise ships will be repealed.

O'Gorman to Speak.

Senator O'Gorman, chairman of the inter-oceanic canals committee, and leader of Democratic opposition to the repeal, plans to make a forceful argument before the committee next week against the administration's position, on grounds that this government now is negotiatin in its proposed treaty with Colombia a clause whereby Colombia's vessels of war may have access to the canal free of tolls.

The clause is identical with one in a previously neotiated, but never enforced treaty with Colombia which Great Britain approved. The argument will be made that if Great Britain conceded the right of the United States to exempt Colombian war vessels, it is inconsistent for Great Britain to maintain now that the United States may not exempt American coastwise shipping.

Among men summoned before the canals committee next week to discuss the tolls controversy are Joseph H. Choate, former ambassador to Great Britain; Henry White, former charge of the American embassy in London and later ambassador to France; Dr. Benjamin Ide Wheeler, president of the University of California; Frederick W. Lehman, of St. Louis, former solicitor general of the United States; Oscar S. Straus, once ambassador to Turkey and former Secretary of Commerce and Labor; George L. Record, of New Jersey, who was a member of the platform committee of the Progressive party at the Chicago convention in 1912, and many others. On the list to be heard, besides several Senators are representatives of many Pacific coast, New Orleans and inland commercial organizations.

Would-Be Suicide Is Accidently Killed

DESIRE FOR LAST CIGARETTE CAUSES PREMATURE DEATH OF MAN READY TO DIE.

Shreveport, La., April 11.—After making preparations to commit suicide by locking himself in a room, stopping up all crevices and turning on gas jets, Charles Bills felt a desire for a final cigarette. When he struck a match to light the cigarette an explosion followed. Bills went flying through a window and the house was partially wrecked. Bills is expected to die.

OUTLINES

Two distinct earthquake shocks were recorded by instruments at the Georgetown University observatory between 12 and 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. No estimate of the probable distance to the center of the disturbance was given.

The four gun men convicted of the murder of Herman Rosenthal in New York and sentenced to die in the electric chair Monday, were refused a new trial by Justice Goff, of the State Supreme Court last night. Governor Glynn had previously refused to stay the execution until after the second trial of Becker, convicted on the same charge. This is their last chance to escape the chair on Monday.

The tense situation created by the arrest of American marines at Tampico by Mexican Federal soldiers was relieved by President Huerta's official apology and promise to have the matter thoroughly investigated, according to dispatches from Washington.

POSSES AFTER TRAIN ROBBERS

Two Men Attempted to Hold Up Passenger Train.

ONE MAN WAS KILLED

Porter Shot by Bandits—Another Man Jumped From Moving Train and Ground to Death Under the Wheels of Car.

Amite, La., April 11.—Posses headed by Sheriff Ballard, of Tangipahoa parish, and Special Agent Young, of the Illinois Central Railway, tonight surrounded Beaver Swamp, near here, where they expect to capture the two white men who today attempted to hold up Illinois Central passenger train No. 14, wounding Isom Allen, a porter, and causing the death of Lude Anderson, who jumped from the train and was ground to death beneath the wheels.

It was expected that the men would be captured before morning, as one of them was said to be limping from a wound received when W. J. Kent, assesor of Tangipahoa parish, fired on the bandits as they left the train. The attempted hold-up occurred between Fluker and Tangipahoa, a few miles north of here. It is believed that the robbers expected to secure large sums from paymasters of lumber companies in this section who are usually passengers on this train on Saturday, the weekly pay day.

FIVE HUNDRED TAR HEELS VISITING WASHINGTON.

Chairman Warren Thinks Convention Did No Harm.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Washington, D. C., April 11.—Representative Pou ended the controversy over the Clayton postmastership today when he recommended N. R. Poole for the place. It is believed Mr. Pou conferred with Senator Simmons before making the recommendation and therefore no delay in his nomination and confirmation is expected.

State Chairman Warren, of Newbern, spent the day in Washington. He was with Senator Simmons for some time this afternoon but stated that he had no particular business with the senior Senator. Mr. Warren said he has been North on a business trip and stopped over in Washington to look around. He had not heard how the progressive meeting in Raleigh terminated. He said, however, he did not think any harm had been done.

The following applicants have been placed on the eligible list for fourth-class postoffices in the Sixth Congressional District: Supply, Lucian H. Phelps and Mrs. Lizzie Galloway; Richardson, Joseph Hester; Elrod, John E. Bridgers; Cerro Gordo, Clarence W. Harrelson; Marietta, William McD. Oliver.

Some 500 or more North Carolinians reached Washington to spend the Easter holidays in the National Capital. About 35 beautiful young women of the Louisburg Female College graduating class are being chaperoned by President Smith, while Charlie Gattis, of Raleigh, brought in 250 from Raleigh, Greensboro, and other sections of the State. SENATOR M'LEAN PARALYZED.

Found Helpless After Making Speech at Carthage.

Rockingham, N. C., April 11.—Hosts of friends throughout this senatorial district and the State are anxious on account of the condition of State Senator Hector McLean, of Laurinburg, who a few days ago was stricken with paralysis, just following an address to the Fayetteville Presbytery in session at Carthage. After the Senator had spoken, he retired from the church and was found later in a helpless condition near the building.

Senator McLean has for several terms represented in the State Senate the district composed of Richmond, Scotland, Moore and Stanly counties, and was considered one of the ablest and certainly one of the most popular members of the Legislature. The members of that body throughout the State will learn with keen regret of the Senator's illness.

RAIN ON ATLANTIC COAST

Easter Frocks and Bonnets Destined to Get Wet Today—Snow Storm in Texas.

Washington, April 11.—A rainy Easter morning for the North and South Atlantic coasts and many of the Gulf States, but bright skies for the remainder of the country, was the final judgment tonight of weather bureau forecasters on the vexing problem common to all the land.

Conditions presaging storm were less noticeable tonight than on Friday night to the forecaster's vision. Low pressure continued in the Northeast, but the southwestern storm area had shifted into eastern Texas. The improvement will come a day too late, however, for the prediction is for bright weather throughout the country Monday.

Snow Storm in Texas.

Dallas, Tex., April 11.—A heavy snow storm began today in the Texas (Pan-handle, the second within the week. Reports from West Texas indicated that a cold wave of considerable intensity was sweeping eastward over the Southwest.

HUERTA'S EXPLANATION RELIEVES SITUATION

MR. BRAND ON STAND

A. C. L. Most Prosperous Railroad in the State

Develops From Cross Examination—Admits Present System of Applying Rates is Wrong but Justice Rates Worse.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., April 11.—The cross examination of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad officials in the intra-State freight rate hearing before the special commission was concluded this afternoon, and the commission will resume sessions Tuesday morning, calling for examination at that time officers of the Norfolk Southern. The Norfolk & Western officials will not be examined at all, they having indicated that they were perfectly willing to abide by the results of the examination of the officers of the other companies.

It developed from the examination of Fourth Vice President Brand, of the Atlantic Coast Line, that a share of the stock of the company issued in 1845 is now worth $2,700, besides having paid regular dividends all these years, the Coast Line being decidedly the most prosperous railroad that operates in the State.

Mr. Brand testified that he could but admit that the present system of applying freight rates is a patchwork of the most illogical sort and he thought there ought to be some equitable adjustment and simplification. However, he maintained that the Justice Act would apply ruinous rates.

At the completion of the examination of Mr. Brand, General Counsel George Elliott submitted to the commission a statement of the effect of applying the "car mile" basis to the Justice rates as to dividing service between freight and passenger departments. This showed 85.4 per cent of the total service for the test period submitted freight and 14.6 per cent passenger service and would give $7,750,000 for the intra-State basis of freight. This would work out a cut of the net earnings of the Coast Line on intra-State freight to 1.15 per cent, an even worse showing for the railroad company than the showing made by the company in the direct testimony for the company this morning. The cross examination of Assistant Comptroller Matthews and General Traffic Manager Chalenor was concluded, so there remains now only the Norfolk Southern to be examined. Rate Expert Hillman is to go on the stand for the State.

DENIES SALE OF DOCUMENTS

Former Wife of Joseph Caillaux and Her Son Testify at Investigation of Killing.

Paris, April 11.—Mme. Gueydan-Dupre, former wife of Joseph Caillaux, and her son, Francois Dupre at the inquiry today into the killing of M. Calmette by Mme. Caillaux, testified that M. Calmette never had offered them directly or indirectly money for documents relating to M. Caillaux.

Mme. Gueyden-Dupre said she had not communicated to M. Calmette the contents of letters or documents of any kind and declared she had been surprised at the publication of the "Thy Joe" letter.

M. Boucard, the examining magistrate, had summoned the Princess d' Mesang-Estradere, formerly society editor of Figaro, to confront Mme. Gueydan-Dupre, but the Princess was out of the city.

The Princess some time ago testified that at the time of the divorce of M. Caillaux and Mme. Dupre three letters were destroyed by agreement in the presence of notaries, but that Mme. Dupre had retained photographs of the letters. M. Calmette, she continued, knew of the existence of the photographs and offered $6,000 to a person to arrange an interview with the holder of the photographs. This offer was refused. The Princess said that M. Calmette made a similar offer to her.

What Was Meant by His Insurance Resolution.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., April 11.—Mr. E. R. McKethan, of Fayetteville, author of the resolution in the progressive Democratic convention for having the State provide insurance facilities to stop the heavy drain on the State through insurance premiums going out of the State, wants it understood that his resolution provided that in order to prevent ruinous drain upon the State and to keep this money at home "a State system of life insurance be established in the State, by the State, and for the best interests of the State."

VERDICT AGAINST TOWN.

Rocky Mount Must Pay Norman Forbes $1,200.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Tarboro, N. C., April 11.—In the second trial of Norman Forbes vs. the town of Rocky Mount, the jury late today gave plaintiff a verdict for $1,200. Forbes sustained personal injuries in October, 1912, by coming in contact with a live electric wire while riding to school on a bicycle. This case attracted much interest and a new trial was recently granted by the Supreme Court.

Good Faith of Mexican President Taken at Par by Washington.

NO REPORTS OF BATTLE

Spanish Authorities Again Beseach Washington to Intercept In Northern Mexico In Behalf of Spaniards.

CENSORSHIP PLACED ON NEWS DISPATCHES.

Mexico City, April 11.—A censorship was placed on all news dispatches tonight.

Washington, April 11.—The tense situation created here by the arrest of American marines by Mexican authorities at Tampico was greatly relieved today with the receipt of General Huerta's prompt repudiation and apology for the action, forwarded from Mexico City by Charge O'Shaughnessy. While no definite statement was obtainable in official circles, it was intimated that the necessary redress for the affront had been afforded.

Reporting developments to the Navy Department, Rear Admiral Mayo, in command of the American naval force at Tampico, cabled that he had demanded that the Mexican commander salute the American flag within 24 hours in expiation of the affront.

No furher message had come from Admiral Mayo when the department closed tonight.

Admiral Mayo's report was forwarded to President Wilson at White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia, where he is spending Easter.

Officials at the State and Navy departments considered Huerta's statement full and frank. It promised an immediate investigation of Colonel Hinojosa's action in arresting the marines and parading them publicly through the streets, and the official statement issued by the Navy Department added that General Huerta had promised that "if the investigation should develop a greater responsibility on the part of Colonel Hinojosa the penalty applicable to the case will be imposed by competent legal authorities."

Huerta's Good Faith Accepted.

General Huerta's good faith was accepted, apparently without reservation and it was pointed out that it was fair to await the result of the promised investigation and discipline of the Mexican officer responsible for the humiliation of the American navy.

The Navy Department, it was said, issued no instructions to Rear Admiral Mayo directing either the withdrawal or enforcement of his demand for a salute. Officials here are disposed to rely on that officer's discretion and are certain he has been informed of the unqualified terms of General Huerta's explanation.

Some doubt was expressed as to whether the salute could be demanded for what was termed an "irresponsible act" by a subordinate officer, especially in view of the prompt apology from Huerta.

One official, an authority on naval precedents, said he knew of no instance in which a salute had been given the American colors in like circumstances.

Other Mexican reports were meagre. There was nothing definite concerning the Torreon situation. Secretary Bryan said he felt the outlook for the safety of foreign oil properties at Tampico was improved in consequence of thrice repeated demands to contestants there. He said no foreign governments had made representations in behalf of the interests of their nationals at Tampico.

New representations from the Spanish office through Ambassador Willard at Madrid, asking assistance for exiled Spaniards at El Paso brought forth the comment that everything possible is being done. Secretary Bryan again explained that he had instructed Consular Agent Carothers to demand of General Carranza that the case of every Spaniard be considered separately on its merits and that there be no more wholesale deportation because of race. Mr. Bryan indicated that he would continue to press the claims of the Spaniards without abatement.

A belated report to the Navy Department from Rear Admiral Howard at Acapulco, sent Thursday night, said all was quiet at that port towards which the Zapatastas are moving.

Rebels Defend Action.

Constitutionalist headquarters here in a statement tonight defended the expulsion of certain Spanish residents of Mexico as an act in accordance with the Mexican constitution and supported by international law. The deportations were ordered, the statement says, to "prevent them from giving further assistance to the enemy and to protect them from the people who might, under present peculiar conditions commit acts of violence against them."

The statement insists, however, that not all Spanish residents of the district involved were expelled, the order applying only to those who Constitutionalist authorities had reason to believe were in league with the Federals.

Since Spain had full knowledge of the terms of the Mexican constitution in this regard the statement argues, when her citizens settled in Mexico, "their government cannot now set up the plea that they have been dealt with in an unlawful manner."

The statement repudiated reports from Mexican Federal sources that

BIG WEEK FOR A. & M. TEAM

Meet Wake Forest in Easter Monday Game Tomorrow—Cinder Path Battle in Morning.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

West Raleigh, N. C., April 11.—On Monday morning the A. & M. baseball team will meet the Wake Forest aggregation on Riddick field in the second game of the series of three played between these two institutions each year. Last year the Baptists took two out of three games from the Techs for the first time in seven years. A. & M. took the first game of the series this year, and the Wake Forest boys will fight hard to keep the Techs from capturing the second game Monday, and the game should prove one of the most interesting to be seen on the local field this season. The Baptists have improved since the last game, and should put up a good fight. Either Moore or Smith will be the probable twirlers for the Baptists, while the Techs will be represented on the mound by either Russell or Jaynes. Smith is the Baptist pitcher who won two out of three games last year, and Moore has been doing some good tossing this season, having pitched a good game against the Techs in the game he lost this season. The A. & M. team has struck its stride now, and is putting up some good exhibitions, having won five and lost two games so far, and the team which takes the large end of the score in a game with them will have to hustle.

The Easter Monday game here, which is always played with Wake Forest, generally proves one of the best of the season, as these two institutions are great rivals on the diamond, and the Easter Monday game is the big game of the season, and each team fights its hardest then. There are large numbers of friends of both schools in Raleigh, and a large crowd is generally on hand to cheer the two teams. The game this year should prove a big drawing card.

On Easter Monday morning the Techs and the Baptists will have another battle, this time for the supremacy on the cinder path. A. & M. defeated Wake Forest in the first meet this season, and the Baptists will come over Monday determined to get even. The Techs have an especially strong track team this year, the strongest that has represented it in years. They are represented by strong men in every event but the pole vault, and several good men in many events, and stand a good chance of taking first place against any team in the State. The meet Monday morning should prove to be hotly contested, and exciting, and a large crowd should be on hand to witness the various events.

YALE EASY VICTIMS TO VIRGINIA NINE.

Score Ten to Four in Game at Norfolk Yesterday.

Norfolk, Va., April 11.—Virginia had no difficulty in defeating Yale today, the visitors being unable to connect with Gammons' delivery when a hit meant a run. Captain Neff for Virginia secured four hits out of five times up, being responsible for six of the runs scored by his team. Capt. Blossom, of Yale, put up a great game at short and secured two hits, scoring as many runs.

BERRY, OF REDLANDS, CAL. MAKES NEW RECORD FOR MILE.

Stanford, Univ., Cal., April 11.—In the inter-scholastic track and field meet here today, Berry, of the Redlands (California) High School, established a new world's inter-scholastic record for the mile, finishing in 4:26 2-5. The former record of 4:26 4-5 was made in 1911 by McKenzie, of Phillips-Exeter.

Beebe, of Anaheim, Cal., also broke the world's inter-scholastic record, staggering across the line in 4:26 3-5, after running neck and neck with Berry for the last quarter.

WALTER TRAVIS DEFEATED IN 19TH HOLE MATCH.

Robert Hunter, of Connecticut Winner of Final Match.

Pinehurst, N. C., April 11.—In a match that required 19 holes to decide, Walter J. Travis, of Garden City, L. I., former international champion, today went down to defeat here before Robert Hunter, of Weeburn, Conn., in the final round of the annual mid-April golf tournament for the President's trophy. A large crowd of enthusiasts followed the match.

The match was closely played throughout. Travis rounded the turn one up, with a medal score of 39 to 40 for Hunter. The latter squared the match on the 14th, lost the 15th to a three; won the 16th with a five; the 17th on four, and lost the 18th to a four of a tie.

On the 19th hole Travis lost with a second to the trap. He haled the hole with four on a game putt, but rimmed the cup, losing the hole and match.

In the consolation match, Lawrence Cowing, of Cincinnati, defeated Henry C. Fownes, of Pittsburgh, 2 up and 1 to play.

N. D. Becker, of Dunwoodie, N. Y., won in the second division and J. S. Neill, of Frederick, N. B., the third.

This event closed the season's programme.

INSPECTION CONCLUDED

Of the Companies of the Coast Artillery of the State.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., April 11.—The annual inspection of the companies of the Coast Artillery in this State was concluded here today by Inspector Instructor Greig, of the United States War Department, and Col. Thomas Stringfield, of Waynesville, inspector of small arms for the North Carolina National Guard, the last inspection being that of the First Company, Coast Artillery, Raleigh, W. D. Morrow, captain.

While no official statement of the condition of the companies as developed in the inspections is obtainable yet, it is understood that the companies have made a very good showing with considerable improvement over the conditions a year ago.

Trinity Defeated In 11 Inning Game

BASE ON BALLS AND TWO ERRORS ALLOWED FARMERS TO SCORE IN 11TH.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Durham, N. C., April 11.—A base on balls followed by two costly and inopportune errors allowed A. & M. to score the winning run in the 11th inning of the best and closest ball game ever seen on the local diamond today. For ten innings Jaynes and Kanipe fought for the game, neither allowing a score until the 11th. Jaynes and Kanipe pitched star ball throughout, the latter losing the game but not because of his inefficient pitching, but by the errors of his team mates. Winston got two hits.

GUILFORD WINS EXCITING GAME AT BURLINGTON.

Elon Outplayed Quakers But Make Errors at Critical Times.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Elon College, N. C., April 11.—Guilford nosed out victory in a most exciting game at Burlington today in the ninth and tenth innings. Elon outplayed the Quakers at every point, but made errors at critical times. Atkinson fanned 14, while Benbow for Guilford retired but four. Johnson made a home run over deep center fence. Newman stole home.

Poythress made a phenomenal throw-out of winner at home from deep left field. Elon made 12 hits and yet lost. Guilford got only seven hits and made only one earned run. Newman and Finch each, for Elon, made three hits out of four times up.

FAYETTEVILLE GIRLS WIN.

Wilmington Team Defeated by Score of 9 to 4 in Basketball Game.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Fayetteville, April 11.—The girls' basketball team of the Fayetteville High School defeated the Wilmington High School girls 9 to 4 here today in a pretty exhibition of the game. Misses McFadyen, Cook and Johnson, of Fayetteville, and Misses Peterson, McEachern and Hall, of Wilmington, starred.

The train from Fayetteville due to arrive in Wilmington at 8:05 last night did not reach the city until after midnight, on account of having to wait on Southern connections at Greensboro. The members of the Wilmington team and a number of friends who accompanied them to Fayetteville, returned on the train. Wilmington's defeat was a great surprise here as many felt confident after the Wilmington girls won the first game of the season that they would have the same good luck as they did last year, when the High School won every game from Fayetteville.

PREPARING TO CLEAN UP

Citizens of City Assure Superintendent McAllister of Their Intention to Co-operate.

That the citizens of the city will lend every effort to Mr. J. C. McAllister, superintendent of streets, during the clean-up week, which begins on Monday, April 20th, is indicated by the many favorable responses he has received to the letters he sent out a few days ago asking for their aid and co-operation. He is much gratified to know that his plans for making a more beautiful city have met with the warm approval of all interested in the civic improvement of Wilmington, and feels that the campaign will be a great success.

While special efforts will be made during next week to clear Wilmington of all trash and refuse, the process of renovation has already been inaugurated by Superintendent McAllister. All the alleys between Orange and Princess streets and Front street and the river were cleared of garbage the past week, and other alleys will receive attention this week. Not only are the men engaged in this work cleaning up the alleys, but where they find trash and garbage on private lots adjacent to the alleys they remove this also, after betting the consent of the owner.

While this work will continue during the coming week, this is but a beginning for the real campaign of the following week. At that time certain streets will be assigned for each day and property owners will be requested to get all garbage and refuse on the streets, so that those in charge of the wagons can get to it easily. There will be no charge for the removal.

Fire Chief Schnibben is assisting Superintendent McAllister in getting the city clear of trash in order that the likelihood of fires may be prevented. While there is not a man in the State who knows better how to fight a fire than Chief Schnibben, yet he is a firm believer that the best way to keep the fire loss at a minimum is to prevent them from occurring at all.

Supt. John J. Blair, of the city schools, will organize the boys of the different schools of the city into bands, and they will spend their spare hours during next week in making war on ugliness and on all that tends to make the city disreputable. Superintendent McAllister is depending on these boys to assist him materially in making a more beautiful and cleaner city. They will be valuable factors in the civic uplift of the city by the sea.

Of course, the ladies are behind Superintendent McAllister on the proposition. They have been fighting and working for these things for a long time. Their sense of the fitness of things makes them believe in cleanliness as a matter of principle.

A matter to which Superintendent McAllister wishes to call especial attention is that of old cans. There are hundreds and thousands of these strewn all round houses, in the alleys and other vacant places. When they become filled with water from the frequent rains they make ideal breeding places for mosquitoes. Superintendent McAllister wants to make a special effort to get rid of all the cans. A suggestion that has been made to him which he wishes to pass along is that all cans, when emptied, be punctured in the bottom so that they will not hold water. By this means, even if they are left exposed to the weather, they will not become breeders of mosquitoes.

GOLF TOURNAMENT AT RALEIGH TOMORROW.

Wilmington Club Players Leave This Afternoon for Capital City.

The second golf match between teams from the Cape Fear Country Club and the Raleigh Country Club will be played on the links of the latter tomorrow, the Wilmington players leaving this city tonight on the 6:45 train. A series of three matches for a silver cup has been arranged between the two clubs. Wilmington won the first match on the home links on Lee's birthday.

The players that will go this afternoon to Raleigh are Messrs C. E. Taylor, captain; W. A. Townes, Jesse F. Roache, B. H. Bridgers, W. D. MacMillan, Jr., M. F. H. Gouverneur, W. A. French, J. H. Davis and Dr. J. W. Stanley. Mr. Thos. Strange, a student at the University of North Carolina, who is the present club champion, will join the team in Raleigh. It is also expected that Messrs. J. W. Carmichael, T. C. White and W. Buckner will go, though they had not definitely decided to do so last night. The team will be accompanied by the club's professional player, Mr. Nathan Mather.

The teams in the match, which begins tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock and will consist of three rounds, or 27 holes, will be lined up in the following order, the first named in each two being the Wilmington player: C. E. Taylor, Theo. Webb; Thos. W. Strange, R. D. W. Connor; W. A. Townes, Gordon Smith; B. H. Bridgers, C. E. Johnson; J. F. Roache, S. Brown Shepherd; J. H. Davis, Walters Durham; Dr. J. W. Stanley, E. C. Hillier; W. A. French, A. P. Bauman; M. F. H. Gouverneur, Jesse Primrose; J. W. Carmichael, C. A. Johnson; T. C. White or W. Buckner, J. D. Whitaker; W. D. MacMillan, Jr., Dr. Moncure.

SPECIAL EASTER MUSIC.

Services at First Baptist Church Will be Most Impressive.

The services at the First Baptist church this morning and evening will be most impressive, especially this morning when a large chorus choir of 300 voices will render the music which will have particular reference to the glad Easter-tide. Mr. A. S. Holden will be the presentor. A full orchestra will render the accompaniment. Dr. Foster, the pastor, will preach an Easter sermon, his subject being "A Message from An Open Grave."

At the evening hour a choir of about 20 voices will sing several selections. Included in these will be "Send Out the Light," by Gounod, and "As It Began to Dawn," by Harker. The subject of the sermon will be "The Religion That Gives Life."

In the Sunday School today it is expected that the mothers will either send or bring all the babies of the church. Exercises appropriate to the occasion will be held. When the Sunday school exercises are over nurses will be in readiness, so that those who desire to do so, may attend the church service.

A great many people go to work on an idea rather than go to work on a farm.

All four of New York's gunmen may not be guilty enough to be sent to the electric chair for murdering Herman Rosenthal, but nobody should worry if anything like that happens to a gunman.

It is announced on the society page of the Washington Post that the Wilson-McAdoo wedding is to be "a quiet affair." Nevertheless, the newspaper boys will do their best to keep it from remaining quiet.

One thing that a poor man should not do is to worry because the Democratic administration refuses to tax him for the benefit of a rich monopoly that is quite able to get along without the help of the people.

About all the work that men like "General" Coxey do is to work up all the sentiment they can against all the Democratic administrations that happen to get hold of the government at Washington. The unemployed seem to be Republicans who get down and out when they have to give up the offices.

A Richmond man went to New York and bought him an apartment house for $450,000. If Richmond people just will not do their shopping at home they ought to come to Wilmington and build several apartment houses specially designed for the ever increasing number of light housekeepers.

Col. Esau always will be berated for selling his birthright for a mess of pottage. Of course, it stamped him as a boob, but that is no reason why we should be expected to think any more of his tightwad brother who closed the deal by which he got something for nothing. All these years Esau has had our sympathy because he was the simple guy who got the gold brick. To save our lives, we never can get over thinking that Esau's brother Jake originated the "Big Business" idea and had every reason to feel like 30 cents when he thought about his having started in business as the original cheap screw. We are tired seeing Billy Sunday and everybody else jumping on Esau because he let Jacob get his angora.

IS OUR COTTON MONOPOLY THREATENED?

In an interesting editorial article a few days ago, the New York Journal of Commerce commented dubiously upon statistics which that paper says were calculated to show that the monopoly of the United States in the growing of cotton is threatened. In fact, the statistician states that for the first time in the history of the world the cotton production of the combined producing countries in all parts of the world exceeded that of the United States, or rather, that of the South.

In the statistics referred to, the 1913 crop of China was estimated at 5,333,333 bales, and it was shown that India and all other cotton growing countries in Asia, Africa and South America had increased their production. The article in the Journal of Commerce really intimated that American cotton is being gradually but surely replaced, because the cotton mills of Europe have adopted machinery so as to use other grades of cotton than that grown in the United States.

However, doctors are not the only people who differ. The cotton experts and statisticians differ, so we see that Mr. Richard Spillane, a New York cotton authority, himself criticised by the Journal of Commerce, comes back at that paper for putting the world's cotton crop at 19,000,000 bales. Mr. Spillane offers as a better authority the census reports of the United States, showing that for 1912-1913, exclusive of linters, all the countries of the world produced 21,817,000 bales, distributed as follows: United States 13,696,000 bales; India 3,518,000 bales; Egypt 1,523,000; China 1,074,000; Russia 950,000; Brazil 320,000; all others 736,000. According to those figures, the United States produced considerably more cotton last year than all the balance of the world.

We are satisfied, however, that the production in China is greatly underestimated, as well as the world's production itself. Shepperson's "Cotton Facts," puts the world's 1911 to 1912 crop at 24,953,000 bales, and the 1912-1913 crop at 23,984,000 bales, including linters. The Journal of Commerce replies to Mr. Spillane and states that its actual figures of 19,118,220 bales last year, were taken from the annual review of "The Chronicle," which the Journal of Commerce says "is generally accepted as one of the foremost authorities on cotton statistics."

In an article in the Review of Reviews for April, Mr. Spillane contributes a cotton review in which he furnished the statistics showing that the cotton monopoly of the United states is threatened. The Journal of Commerce criticised that article in an editorial of more than a column and threw doubt on the accuracy of Mr. Spillane's statements. It is in reply to that editorial that Mr. Spillane comes back with the statistics which seem to indicate that the world's cotton crop is from 23,000,000 or more to nearly 25,000,000 bales. Even then, the South still leads, if all the statistics are correct. However, we have been satisfied long ago that if the truth were really known about cotton production in China and other parts of the world, the South is not producing the greater part of the world's cotton.

Nevertheless, that is no reason why the South should be scared into producing a larger crop so it can keep ahead of all the world. So long as prices are good, the South will produce all the cotton it can at a profit, but we don't think it should be at all alarmed that the world is going to get ahead of it in growing cotton.

TIME FOR TOLERATION.

It has been said that every question has two sides, and the truth is, astute men on different sides can come very nearly making it look that way, anyhow. Indeed, many questions have two sides, according to the interests of those who look at it. One side is good for one class, yet not good for another, so it happens that a great many of the differences of people and factions and parties is due to the interests that are different and that are affected differently in different sections or communities.

This seems to be a great controversial age, and in these days of clashing interests and contrary opinions, it is well for men not to become so unreasonably, perversely and wildly satisfied that they are right and everybody else is wrong. In other words, just a little tolerance is the proper thing for all men to have, and if all sides to a controversy will only let the other fellow have his opinion without getting as mad as old Tucker at him, lots of the friction and disturbances in communities, sections and states will be avoided.

Our old friend, Major Charles W. Hubner, an able Atlanta newspaper editor and a gifted man of letters, deprecates the fact that these are times of passionate differences of opinion and "affirmations and denials, with the wild winds of controversy blowing in all directions, casting dust into the eyes of believers and doubters, while in the turmoil of battling creeds." He thinks the still, small voice of toleration is scarcely heard, and he writes to the Atlanta Journal to commend to thoughtful persons this little poem entitled, "Toleration," written by Chief Justice Logan E. Bleckley, of the Supreme Court of Georgia:

"My brother, why should we fall out,
Why not forgive you all your doubt,
And me all my conviction?
No matter what our dreams may be,
At last, when we awaken,
It may be plain to you and me,
We both were much mistaken."

Judge Bleckley was very much a sage and philosopher, and we agree with Major Hubner that the verse will appeal with great force "to the conscience and common sense of all thinking men and women." Let us remember the old story about the brave knights who fought to the death because one contended that a shield was made of brass while the other contended that it was made of iron. After they had quarreled and their blood was spilled, it was found that the shield had two sides to it, one of iron and the other of brass. Both were right, but they got angry and fought before it was revealed that each was looking on a different side of the shield—or a question, as it may be.

All of us don't know it all, and all of it may not look alike to all of us.

CUTTING OUT FACTIONALISM.

While South Carolina has been torn by factions of long standing among the Democrats, based on "something" started by Tillman and Tillmanism along about 1886 or 1888, and kept up in every campaign since, it is cheering that in this campaign the "candidates" seem to have agreed among themselves to be more respectful towards each other on the stump. They seem to be getting tired chewing the rag with such old-fashioned violence, and certainly it is heartening that they have about decided to try to keep from flaying each other alive, and taking the hide off each other and salting it down.

We infer that the South Carolina candidates are going to be more dignified if not lady-like. The Greenville News gives us to understand that such is the case, and that esteemed paper states that it hopes they are going to observe the amenities now that "candidates are beginning to stir around" and are "feeling the people's pulse," "looking over the field," etc. The News says it seems to be rather unanimous among the candidates that heated debates and controversies shall be avoided.

Our South Carolina friends have at last realized the cause of factionalism. It is cantankerousness, cavortishness, and all those rabid, ranting things which some candidates think show what powerful stump speakers they are. Men who have no respect for each other's opinions and reflect severely on each other's motives, cause the people to divide up into factions, and it takes years and years for friends and neighbors to get over the bitter feeling created during a campaign by the men who make "charges" and lambast each other all over the State.

Here is South Carolina getting back to its senses, it seems, while poor old Tennessee is said to be getting deeper in the mire of factionalism. A dispatch from Nashville on Thursday says the bitterest political struggle that Tennessee has yet had is promised in the attempt of a united Democracy to wrest the State from Republican Governor Hooper and his Democratic allies.

THE DRUMMER AND THE RAILROADS.

The railroads and the commercial travelers in Georgia have compromised their differences, and the Georgia papers tell us that it is gratifying to all interests concerned. The drummers and the railroads have adjusted their differences over the long vexed mileage book issue. Interchangeable mileage coupon books will be restored and the roads will offer for sale so-called stop-over tickets, whereby the traveling man can lie over at as many points as he may desire between the starting point and the destination specified on the ticket.

It is presumed that sort of compromise will be adopted in all the States, as the same trouble has prevailed in North Carolina as well as in Georgia.

Fifty-three years ago today a shot was fired at Charleston that, figuratively speaking, was heard around the world. General Beauregard and the Confederate forces there fired on Fort Sumter and kept up a bombardment from April 12th to about midday on the 13th. That is a long time ago, but Wilmington has one citizen who was there as a Confederate. He is Capt. J. R. Williams, so long the manager of the Southern Express Company in Wilmington. Was any other North Carolina Confederate, now living, on hand when the greatest war of modern times was begun, only to end four long years afterwards at Appomattox?

We would like to see everybody manifest a livelier interest in Wilmington's "Clean-Up Week" which begins Monday, April 20th. Superintendent McAllister, of the Street Department, has laid the ground work well. He has the men and carts ready to do the work and it is now up to the people themselves. The anti-fly campaign, the sanitary campaign, the greater Wilmington campaign and every other campaign making for civic betterment will be greatly accelerated by a close observance of this Clean-Up Week.

Having traveled about 75,000 miles over the same public road within the last ten years, a rural mail carrier, writing in the Bladen Journal, compresses a lot of good hard sense in this paragraph: "I have closely observed the manner in which the road has been worked and have decided that if one-half of the time and work had been spent in draining the roads and the other half in raising the center of the roads, that present conditions would be far different."

It might have been worse. Great Britain might have induced that Republican ambassador from this country to sign a treaty binding us to build the Panama Canal and let her run it. As it was, John Bull got us to agree by treaty not to let the coastwise shipping monopoly fool us into believing that it would be a shame to make American ships pay toll like the pauper ships of alien countries.

CURRENT COMMENT.

The South American river that has been named for the colonel doubtless has uncommon running capacities.—Charlotte Chronicle.

At last we understand the cause of Japan's grouch against us. A plant for the manufacture of American phonographs has been established in Tokyo.—Washington Herald.

It was reported yesterday that a North Carolina man who supported Woodrow Wilson in the National campaign is to be given a Federal job, but we have received no confirmation as yet.—Asheville Citizen.

The greatest benefit that the tolls repeal will confer upon the Democracy of the country is Willie Randolph Hearst's permanent retirement from the party.—Asheville Citizen.

The resolutions adopted by the Democratic mass meeting at Raleigh followed the programme outlined in the call, in the main. In some cases it narrowed the scope, in others it broadened it. "That the penal system be revised, especially by providing indeterminate terms," was an addition, entirely within the spirit of the call. Another specific addition is "that there be created a separate public utilities commission to take over that part of the work of the Corporation and Tax Commission." The child labor section was made definite and comprehensive, by the resolution that "children be prohibited from working in factories until they are 14 years old, not work at night under 16 years old, and women and girls prohibited from night work." Our old acquaintance, the initiative and referendum, was in evidence, as usual. As usual, too, it embarrassed some of the brethren and excited others. Although it is primary knowledge that the initiative of the people founded this government, and it has been shaped by their referendum, we find this mass meeting gravely and cautiously declaring that "without committing the convention to any form of initiative and referendum," that it is the sense of the convention that the people should have the right and opportunity to pass on the adoption of measures, and that an amendment to this end be ratified for the constitution." In other words, let us make the constitution itself constitutional, and ratify the prohibition election. The meeting went out of its way to hand the pass toter a wallop.—Greensboro News.

MOST DESERVING ENTERPRISE.

To the Editor of The Star:

I am moved to write a word of commendation of what seems to me the most deserving enterprise that has appealed to the Wilmington people for support, since I became a resident in their midst, with the hope that it may fall under the eye of every public-spirited and chivalrous citizen in the community. I speak of the movement for the establishment of a Young Woman's Christian Association in this city.

I shall not stop to speak of the advantages and value of such an institution in itself. The fact that it has the endorsement in concrete form of the majority of the cities in this country is sufficient to establish its worth. But of still more importance to me is the fact that the leading women of every faith in this community—and I know of no more intelligent and devoted body of women anywhere—are appealing for its establishment and support. Add to this the fact that these women are the women to whom this community owes the initiation of nearly every enterprise for the civic, social and sanitary improvement of local conditions. A statement that will hardly be challenged by anyone who recalls the accomplishments of such organizations as the Sorosis, the King's Daughters, the Red Cross Society, the Daughters of the Confederacy, the Woman's Auxiliary to the Rescue Work of the Salvation Army, the Housewives' League—to say nothing of the unceasing activity of charitable individuals among the women in aiding and pushing any enterprise of general interest. All of the organizations and activities already initiated, however, have had as their object the common weal of all. The Y. W. C. A. is the first enterprise for which the women of this community have asked aid, peculiarly and specifically, for their own sex. Can the chivalry and sense of equity of the men of Wilmington then, allow them to make anything short of a generous response to this, the first appeal of the women of Wilmington for the women of Wilmington? If I know the men of Wilmington at all, I should answer, most emphatically, No.

I do not need to be reminded that a more opportune time than just the present might have been chosen for this appeal. Though that is said about practically every appeal that comes to any community. Still, I know how many have been the appeals to the exceptionally generous people of Wilmington during the past year, and no one can feel prouder than I of the splendid way in which they have responded. As an adopted citizen of Wilmington, it makes me feel proud of my residence among such a noble-hearted people.

And the women who have unselfishly taken hold of this enterprise, along with all their other pressing philanthropies, were fully mindful of this situation. But they could not choose their own time. Certain conditions connected with securing suitable property with the least possible outlay of money, forced the date of the initiation of the project upon them. What they could do, and did do, with that consideration which only women can show, was to ask the least in the way of a plant in which they could carry on their work, and with the backing of two generous gentlemen, who advanced the purchase price of $9,500 charging no interest whatever for one year so that it would be no immediate expense to the inaugurators, they have secured a home for the work to be paid for at some time when the times will be more opportune, and the work shall have proved its efficiency and worth to every one.

What they are asking of the general community now is only the absolutely necessary cost of equipment and maintenance for the first year, which they have figured down to the lowest possible figure of $6,000. This includes $2,000 for alteration and repairs to the building and grounds, $1,500 for furnishing and equipment, and $2,500 for maintenance.

Surely, this is a modest enough sum, if it be remembered that this is the only outlay in the history of Wilmington exclusively for the young women of Wilmington, and if alongside this proposed outlay is placed the extravagant outlay for all the clubs and societies and semi-religious institutions exclusively for the men of Wilmington. Is not our boasted Southern chivalry at stake? Can we as men do less than we are asked, even if it be at some sacrifice, to meet this emergency in a genuinely sympathetic and generous manner?

Most sincerely yours,
WM. H. MILTON.

THIS IS EASTER MORNING

Christian World Again Celebrates Anniversary of Resurrection of Christ—Local Services.

Again the Christian world will observe today with appropriate services of song and praise of devout thanksgiving the anniversary of the Resurrection of Christ, the saviour and redeemer of mankind, nearly two thousand years ago. Symbolizing as Easter does the conquering of death, the day also comes at a time when the world of nature, as if she, too, were in sympathy with the divine plan of the ages, is awakening from the slumber of Winter, thus typifying in striking manner the hope that springs eternal in the human breast that when a man dies he shall live again.

Locally the observance will be general, practically every church in the city conducting special Easter services. Trained choirs will render elaborate musical programmes, especially in the Episcopal and Catholic churches. In all the churches there will be flowers used in abundance in decorating, showing in concrete manner the joy and gladness that every Christian feels.

Yesterday was a beautiful day of sunshine when Spring was in radiant bloom as if preparing for this day of days when Christians celebrate the breaking of the bands of death by the risen Lord. However, the weather today, according to those who make the forecasts at Washington, gave promise of being unsettled. While everyone will earnestly hope that this, too, may be a bright, beautiful day of sunshine, even if it should be dark and dreary, the spirit of Easter will be evident just the same, not only in songs of thanksgiving and praise but also in the abundance of flowers that will be used.

Following a week of penitential devotions, of fasting and prayer, the hushed church bells will break forth this morning in peans of praise; the draped altars will be uncovered and adorned with fresh Spring flowers, and the sufferings of the cross will be changed into carols of praise. It will be a day of rejoicing among all, for the spirit of Easter permeates the whole of American civilization, and no man is so depraved that he does not experience a sense of gladness when he comes in contact with others who rejoice.

The world is happy and glad today, and he who would be otherwise should attend church services where he can catch something of the spirit of joyfulness. The world is made better by such services and mankind is advanced by paying tribute to an all-wise Providence, who rules wisely and well.

Annual Meeting of Club.

Mr. Jno. H. Fuchs, secretary and treasurer of the Hanover Seaside Club, announced yesterday that the annual meeting of the members will be held at the Germania Club on Tuesday.

WILL SPEAK TO FARMERS

District Organizer J. Z. Green Will Address Meeting to be Held Here Next Saturday.

County Farm Demonstrator J. P. Herring announces that arrangements have been completed whereby Mr. J. Z. Green, organizer in this district for the North Carolina Farmers' Union, will address a meeting of the farmers and citizens of New Hanover county here next Saturday, April 18th.

The meeting will be held at noon, and if court is not in session it will be held in the court house. However, if court is still in session at noon Saturday, arrangements will be made to hold the meeting elsewhere. The alternative place of holding the meeting will be announced later.

Mr. Green is a most interesting talker, and he is especially well informed on all topics of interest in connection with modern methods of agriculture. Of late years he has been deeply interested in co-operative methods of purchasing farm supplies, foods, etc., and of co-operative systems of marketing and distributing the products of the farm. He has made a careful study of the co-operative experiments, which have been tried out along these lines in this and other States, as well as in foreign countries, where rural co-operation is probably more advanced than in the United States, and he is qualified to speak as an expert on all branches of the co-operative subject.

While Mr. Green's talk will deal primarily with matters concerning the farmers and their needs, his talk will also be of interest to the public generally, and all who are interested are cordially invited to be present and hear him.

Mr. Herring, the county demonstrator, also announces that the members of the Boys' Corn Club of New Hanover county will attend the meeting, and after Mr. Green's speech there will be a meeting for the purpose of organizing the club for this year, and discussing the details of the contest in which a large number of the young farmers of the county are actively engaged.

INCREASED RECEIPTS SHOWN

Annual Report of Water and Sewerage Department Completed and Will be Read to Council.

Councilman Chas. C. Loughlin, in charge of the department of water and sewerage, will submit the annual report of the department to City Council at the meeting next Wednesday morning, it having been completed by Superintendent W. E. Merritt. The report shows that receipts for the past 12 months, ending March 31st have been the greatest since the city took over the plant, amounting in all to $49,210.05, an increase of $11,062.92 over the previous year.

The complete report is as follows:

Items of construction, sewerage—Pipe $793.26; tools $42.61; other supplies $340.25; salaries and labor $4,022.97; total $5,199.09; total expended $53,049.40.

Services—Water, number of services April 1st, 1914, 4,364; number of services April 1st, 1913, 3,575; increase 789. Sewer—Number of services April 1st, 1914, 2,384; number of services April 1st, 1913, 1,342; increase 1,042; total services during year 1,831.

Meters—During the year, 48 meters were purchased, making total meters April 1st, 1914: size 5-8, total 1,339; size 3-4, total 65; size 1, total 23; size 1 1-4, total 1; size 2, total 7; size 1 1-2, total 7; size 4, total 3; size 3, total 1; size 6, total 2; total 1,448.

Water pumped—April 1st, 1913, to April 1st, 1914, 725,365,000 gallons; monthly average 60,447,084 gallons; daily average 1,987,302 gallons; April 1st, 1912, to April 1st, 1913, 626,701,000 gallons; monthly average 52,225,084 gallons; daily average 1,717,072 gallons.

Mains, hydrants and valves—There has been added 1,700 feet 6-inch pipe and three hydrants. Total mileage in system 31 2-3 miles.

Supplemental.

"The past year has shown a decided increase in our business in every way, notwithstanding a reduction in rates there has been a very good increase in total receipts. The receipts for the year being $49,210.05 against $38,147.13 for the previous year, or an increase of $11,062.92. With the new services laid during the year this increase would show more but a greater portion of the work has not been in long enough to earn much revenue.

"We have laid during the year 24,063 feet of one and a quarter inch water pipe, 1,700 feet six-inch water pipe, and three hydrants. We have made 789 water connections, 41 water connections to flush tanks, 1,042 sewer connections, making a total of 1,872.

"The amount of water pumped also shows an increase being 99 million gallons more than the previous year. This will account for the increase in the cost of filtration and fuel, as shown in our financial statement. There has been improvement made at pumping station amounting to about $2,500, which will reduce filtration expense more than $100 per month.

"Our pumpage for the year has reached 725 million gallons or a daily average of about 1,987,000 gallons.

"Since October 1st, 1912 ,this department has increased the number of sewer connections from 1,138 to 2,180, and new connections are being put in as rapidly as possible. There are several hundred applications for connection and these are having prompt attention.

"For the last two quarters the reduction in rates amounts to $2,364.

"There are three extraordinary items in the maintenance account amounting to $2,400, the cost of which should properly be distributed over the next three or four years. These are: Chlorinating apparatus, $730; filter sand $65; strainers $1,020."

Says She Was Assaulted.

Mrs. Lillie Newbold, who lives on the Castle Haynes road near the Moore brick yards, who was before the Recorder last week on a charge of having wrung the necks of several chickens belonging to her neighbor, Mrs. Herbert Croom, has sworn out a warrant before Justice Bornemann charging Mr. Croom with throwing a stick at her and also with cursing her. The trial is set for Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock before Justice Bornemann. Mrs. Newbold was taxed with the costs last week for cruelty to animals.

To Plan for Outing.

Woodus Kellum, Esq., chairman of the central committee of the Junior Order Councils of Wilmington, has called a meeting to be held in his office Monday night at 7 o'clock for the purpose of making arrangements for the annual Junior Order celebration. The outing will probably be to one of the neighboring beaches on May 20th.

Change in Schedules

The ATLANTIC COAST LINE R. R. announces the following change in schedules out of Wilmington, to take effect April 12th: No. 51, for Chadbourn, Conway, Florence, Charleston, Jacksonville, Columbia, Asheville, etc., will leave Wilmington at 5:25 A. M. instead of 5:35 A. M., as now.

TRAVELERS ENLIST IN FIGHT

Anxious to Help Wilmington Secure Branch Federal Bank—Chairman MacRae Speaker.

Impetus was given the organized movement to secure a Federal reserve branch bank for Wilmington, when the aid and co-operation of the local traveling men, represented in the United Commercial Travelers and the Travelers' Protective Association, was secured at a joint session of the two bodies, addressed by Chairman Hugh MacRae, of the central committee, in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce last night.

Mr. MacRae called to their attention the many advantages Wilmington offers, pointing out thoroughly why this city is the logical location for an institution of this kind. He stated that for the same reason that the Standard Oil Co., made Wilmington the largest distributing point south of Baltimore; that this city exports one-fifth of the cotton produced in North and South Carolina; that the local banks handle by far more accounts with the interior banks than any other city in the State; that an enormous volume of fertilizer materials and the manufactured products are distributed from this port and the excellent location in the territory, made Wilmington the proper place for a branch bank. He pointed out many other salient advantages that proved most interesting to the traveling men and enthused them to render their undivided co-operation in the movement which is being carried forward with most encouraging results.

Wilmington's established reputation as a banking center and great financial ability to materially aid in financing crops, as indicated by the fact that $700,000 in government funds was distributed by the government through this city last Fall for this purpose, was a most important point brought out by Mr. MacRae in his talk.

The traveling men were supplied with the necessary information to bring to the attention of the business men throughout the territory and no doubt splendid results will be accomplished by them for the benefit of Wilmington during the coming week.

Following Mr. MacRae's talk a number of the traveling men asked questions in order that they might become thoroughly familiar with the details, and all manifested unusual interest in the fight for this city.

Seven thousand circular letters, prepared by the committee and signed by every commercial and industrial organization in Wilmington, were mailed out last night to the business men, manufacturers and merchants throughout the territory, asking their support for Wilmington in her fight for the bank, and plans are being considered to mail out an equal number next week. These letters are expected to be productive of a vast number of splendid endorsements for the city, which will doubtless prove a big factor in the decision of the reserve board as to where the branch bank is to be established.

ANNUAL DISTRICT MEETING

Knights of Pythias of First North Carolina District to Gather Here Thursday Night.

The annual district meeting of the Knights of Pythias of the First District of North Carolina, will be held in Pythian Castle Hall, over the Murchison National Bank, next Thursday evening, April 16th, and it is expected that the event will be the most largely attended in several years.

Grand Chancellor J. D. Pridgen, of Durham; State Deputy Grand Chancellor W. W. Willson, of Raleigh, and District Deputy Walter W. Vick, of Whiteville, will be present, and in addition many other Pythians from all over the district. An attractive programme is being arranged, and delightful refreshments will be served.

The annual reports from the lodges from all over the district will be made at this meeting, and it is expected that splendid showings will be made by a number of the lodges, as the past year, generally, has been a notable one for the Pythian order.

Every Pythian in Wilmington is expected to be present, to meet the out-of-town delegates and to hear the good reports from all sections.

In this connection, a meeting of local Pythians was held in Castle Hall Friday night looking toward the organization of an inner circle of Pythians to further promote the interests of the order and its undying fraternal spirit, both in their own membership and toward all mankind.

The temporary organization is as follows: C. E. Haskett, president; J. W. Smith, vice president; W. P. McGlaughon, secretary and treasurer. The constitution and by-laws will be presented for consideration at the meeting, which will be held Friday evening, April 17th, at which time also the name of the organization will be considered.

FASHION SHOW UNIQUE.

"Rose Maid" Girls Demonstrated the Gowns at Polvogt's.

The Spring fashion review at Polvogt's yesterday, with chorus girls from the "Rose Maid" as models for the creations shown, proved quite an interesting and novel entertainment for the ladies of the city—and a large number of curious men, too. The store was crowded during the time the models were displaying the different gowns and hats, and large crowds gathered outside to watch the window display.

The girls who acted as models were good looking for the most part, and one of them especially so, and the gowns and hats, they were—well, there's no use for a mere man to try to describe them. Sufficient to state that the Wilmington ladies seemed to be quite pleased with them.

One male observer, standing on the edge of the sidewalk and watching the girls in the window and the Wilmington ladies outside looking on, ventured to remark that while the inside display was very good, that outside was far better. And all in hearing distance agreed with him.

Lecture at Colored Y. M. C. A.

Bishop A. J. Warner, of Charlotte, will be in the city today and tomorrow, the guest of the pastor and members of St. Stephen's A. M. E. Church. This afternoon at 5 o'clock he will speak to the members and friends of the colored Y. M. C. A. at the Empire Theatre, on Red Cross street. The public in general is cordially invited to attend.

SCOTTISH RITE REUNION

Spring Meeting to be Held in the New Hall in Local Masonic Temple April 21st.

The annual Spring reunion of the co-ordinate bodies of Scottish Rite Freemasonry for the Valley of Wilmington, Orient of North Carolina, will be held in the Scottish Rite Hall, Masonic Temple, this city, beginning Tuesday, April 21st, and continuing through the 24th, lasting four days. In addition to the local Scottish Rite Masons, invitations have been mailed to Masons in all the nearby sections, and it is expected that the attendance on the reunion will be the largest of several years.

On this occasion the new Scottish Rite Hall, in the Masonic Temple, will be put to use for the first time. Formerly the ball room and banquet hall of the Masonic Temple, the Scottish Rite Masons here leased it for a period of ten years for the exclusive use of the Scottish Rite bodies, and the work of remodeling and renovating the hall is now rapidly nearing completion. When finished it will be one of the handsomest Scottish Rite halls in the Carolinas.

To the right of the main hall, as one enters, is the smoking room, while to the left are the dressing rooms and wardrobes, and in the outside hall is located the secretary's office and a room for the candidates for degrees. The balcony is fitted up with seats for the use of the members, the main hall floor being left vacant for the use of candidates and degree workers. The balcony will seat from 350 to 400.

A large stage has been constructed in the southern end of the hall, and is faced with handsome art work borders, and will be equipped with an elaborate system of curtains, stage drops, wings, flys, etc. A very beautiful front curtain has been ordered, and will be received in time for the coming reunion. The stage will be fitted up with complete electric apparatus, modern as in any of the theatres, so that the most complicated electric effects can be produced.

The walls of the hall have been repaired and put in splendid shape, and the overhead ceiling has been painted with decorative art designs, embodying the colors and emblems of the order and Consistory. A rich, dark green velvet carpet has been ordered and will be put down as soon as received.

The improvements to the hall will cost, in all, very near $4,000, and it will be the equal of any Scottish Rite hall in the State.

At the coming reunion a large class of candidates, not only from Wilmington, but also from the adjoining counties and neighboring towns, will receive the degrees. The bodies which will take part in the reunion and will receive candidates into their ranks, are Lodge of Perfection, 4 to 14 degrees; Chapter Rose Croix, 14 to 18 degrees; Council of Kadosh, 18 to 30 degrees and Consistory, 30 to 32 degrees.

The committees for the forthcoming event are as follows:

Executive — H. G. Smallbones, chairman; C. B. Newcomb, secretary; James C. Munds, J. F. Leitner, S. R. Keyes.

Credentials — James C. Munds, chairman; H. G. Smallbones, W. B. McKoy, J. F. Leitner.

Entertainment — H. E. Longley, chairman; C. L. Terry, C. C. Loughlin, Joseph Lee Frank.

Programme and Printing—Stuart R. Keyes, chairman; C. B. Newcomb, L. A. Scott.

Director of Class—H. E. Longley.
Director of Work—C. B. Newcomb.

Floor and Stage—Stuart R. Keyes, chairman; W. A. Whitney, C. L. Terry, H. W. Colwell, E. L. White, J. E. Burriss, G. C. Meintire.

Master of Properties—W. A. Whitney.

Electrician—C. R. Suggs.

Scottish Rite Chair—A. S. Holden, director; first tenor, W. R. Dosher; second tenor, A. L. Dosher; first bass, W. A. McGirt; second bass, W. B. Muse.

MANY NEW MEMBERS SECURED FOR Y. W. C. A.

Results of Past Week's Work Most Gratifying to Workers.

With 782 members already enrolled and with a number of cards out that have not been returned bringing the total number to well over 800, no trouble is anticipated by the workers in securing at least 1,000 members to the Young Woman's Christian Association by Tuesday night, April 21st, when the association will be organized at a public meeting to be held in the First Baptist church.

The membership committee has been working hard the past week and with most gratifying results. The general chairman received the returns from a large number of the members yesterday, but there were several that did not report. The canvass will continue through next week with unabated zeal.

The Young Men's Christian Association now has over 1,000 members and the ladies feel that they will have no trouble in securing an equal number of members for the Y. W. C. A. Those having cards that have been signed are requested to send them to the membership chairman at their earliest convenience.

BEFORE THE RECORDER.

Several Negroes Tried for Violating the Prohibition Law.

The police department is waging war on "blind tigers" these spring days and yesterday there were several negroes before the Recorder on this charge. Charlie Malloy, colored, was sent to the county roads for three months. Mitt Williams, colored, was given three months on the county farm. She served notice of appeal and final judgment in the case was left open until Monday. Sam Hooper and Herbert Leonard, both colored, were also charged with violating the prohibition law, but were found not guilty. A nol pros with leave was taken in a case against Alonzo Brown, colored, for a similar offense.

Jesse Blount, colored, was sent to the roads for 30 days on a vagrancy charge. Nora Nixon, colored, also charged with vagrancy, was found not guilty. James Johnson, colored, pleaded guilty to carrying concealed weapons and was fined $25 and the costs. Emma Stevens, colored, wasn't guilty of assault with a deadly weapon, and was discharged. A case against William Harriss, colored, charged with embezzlement, was continued until Monday on account of the warrant being missing.

SPRING MILLINERY

This splendid show of New Hats mirrors the newest note of the leading Paris modistes. Many of them are exact copies of Imported French originals. Others are the conception of our own clever experts, inspired, of course, by Paris influence, but so adapted to American ideas that many of the most discriminating Wilmington women will undoubtedly prefer them to the Foreign creations. Prices are pleasantly modest.

SOROSIS PRIZES FOR FIRST YEAR GARDENS.

Prizes amounting to $25 have been offered by Sorosis for the best kept first year gardens on and off the car line. A number of entries have already been made and it is hoped that there will be many others. It is desired to secure at least 25 entries on the car line and 25 off the line. Unless there are at least this many contestants the Civic Department of Sorosis feels that the results will not be sufficient to justify the expenditure of the prize money.

Those having gardens to enter are requested to 'phone No. 602 or to communicate by post card with No. 813 Market street. These entries should be made at an early date in order that the ladies may know just how many contestants there are.

Handsome prizes will be offered next fall for the best flowers, including chrysanthemums and other plants and those expecting to enter exhibits should plant their flowers now. Not only will they make the yards more attractive, but with a large number of exhibits the floral fair will also be made a splendid success.

"THE NORTH CAROLINA SOLDIER IN THE WAR."

(Communicated.)

To the Seventh and Eighth Grades of the Union and Heminway Schools and the Freshman and Sophomore Grades of the High School:

Cape Fear Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, hopes that every member of these classes is trying for the five dollar gold piece offered by the chapter for the best essay on "The North Carolina Soldier in the War." They were such wonderly soldiers, boys and girls, that we cannot be too proud of them, nor learn too much about them. Slow to sever their allegiance to the Union, what did not North Carolinians do after President Lincoln's call came for troops with which to force back into the Union those Southern States that had already seceded "You can get no troops from North Carolina," Governor Ellis wired back, and immediately set about gathering them for the Confederacy. And that gathering never slackened till the Confederacy ceased to exist.

How many North Carolina men went into the war? How many were left for dead upon the battle fields or died in hospitals or prison? "First at Bethel?" What was it that makes that boast true? "Farthest to the front at Gettysburg." What North Carolina general led them there? Where did he meet his own death a few days later? "Last at Appomattox." How many of them were there bidden "an affectionate farewell" by their great commander, Robert E. Lee?

The essays must all be in the hands of your teachers by April 22nd, so they may be turned in to the chapter and passed upon before the historical meeting on April 29th. Get up your essay, boys and girls. It is a great subject, the studying of which will be of untold benefit to you, "for a people that forgets its sacred dead is already dying at heart," and in learning of your past and in being true to it you will in the future be wiser and better citizens of the United States.

SEAFORTH NEW EXTENSION

Southern End of Wrightsville Beach to be Placed on Market This Week—Improvements.

Elsewhere in today's issue Messrs. King & Seigler, who recently purchased the southern end of Wrightsville Beach and are developing it under the name of Seaforth, announce that lots will go on sale Wednesday, April 15th. No efforts will be made to push the sale, as they state that they are appealing to home buildeers and will trust the actual merit of the property to create a demand for it.

The Tidewater Power Company has already commenced the laying of its extension track south from Lumina through the property, and the work is to be rushed to completion. Messrs. King & Seigler have ordered the material for 4,000 feet of board walk to be laid through Seaforth. This walkway is to be eight feet wide, as is the walkway from the Oceanic Hotel to Lumina, and when completed it will give a uniform eight-foot cypress board walkway all the way from Lumina to the Tidewater Power Company's property, just north of Masonboro Inlet.

A six-foot right of way and street has been laid out from Lumina to the southern end of Seaforth, and 25-foot cross streets laid out every 500 feet. The lots are not uniform in size, as the owners have divided the property so as to utilize the natural advantages of each lot, and not to get as many lots as possible out of the tract.

Seaforth, the name of the new extension, is a word famous in Scottish history, and it is believed has not been used heretofore in connection with any resort in this country.

Committees to Meet.

At a meeting held last night the United Commercial Travelers of this city appointed a committee to confer with a committee from the Chamber of Commerce relative to forming a traveling men's auxiliary to the chamber. This feature was to have been taken up at the meeting in the rooms of the chamber last night to consider the reserve branch bank fight, but owing to the fact that the speeches and discussion took up considerable time, it was decided to let the committees handle the preliminary details.

—Mr. R. E. Batts, of Ashton, was a business visitor in the city yesterday.

..Theatrical..

With a limited but capable and good looking chorus, pretty scenery and stage effects, handsome costumes, good voices, catchy music and artistic dancing, the Rose Maid was presented at the Academy of Music yesterday afternoon and last night, this being its second appearance here. Both the matinee and night audiences could have been larger without causing S. R. O. conditions to prevail in the theatre, but those who were there enjoyed the pretty little operetta.

Miss Grace Kinnecutt in the title role had all the natural charm and sweetness necessary to make up for a lack of noticeable beauty, and her voice was also very good. Howard W. Marsh, who played opposite her as the duke, also possesses a good voice, and handles his part well, except for a slight lack of finish noticeable at times. One would gather that he is playing his first season as leading man. Miss Orrella Collins, as Princess Hilda, posseses a good soprano, which harmonized well with Mr. Marsh's tenor. Probably the best looking woman in the cast was Miss Marie Grenier, as countess Bertrand, but she evidently knows the fact.

Probably the weakest part of "The Rose Maid" is its comedy. This was noticeable on its initial appearance here last season, and it has not improved since. However, the catchy music and good voices in this season's cast goes a long way towards offsetting this weakness. Wm. LaRoy scored a distinct hit with his violin solo in the second act.

The chorus averages better in looks, voices and style than any seen here this season.

Easter Week at Victoria.

The Lenten season has ended and the joy of the Easter week is upon us—a week when amusement will once more be indulged in and when great festivities will hold forth. The Victoria Theatre, the big Keith Vaudeville house in Wilmington, will be the center of attraction, too. It has well prepared for the Easter Week. The shows for both the first part and the last half of the present week will be made up of all headliners. It cost some big money to secure artists that are all headliners.

The Victoria booked the acts before Lent commenced, in its eager desire to get the best. The show, opening at matinee tomorrow afternoon and followed by the usual two performances tomorrow night, will be headed by the Great Asahi, the sensational Japanese magician, who is assisted by a large company of native Japanese. His supporting company is known as the Asahi Quintette, and aids him greatly in his elaborate act of magic and mystery. The stage settings for the act are sumptuous and costly, and one curtain alone cost $4,000. As part of the act the famed Kitamura Brothers will give a vivid illustration of Risely gymnastics.

Another great star on tomorrow's bill will be Dave Willington, the noted comedy juggler, who will convulse with laughter, while startling with tricks of skill. Then there is Pete Lewin, known to fame as President Wilson's xylophonist, a great musician in a great act. The well known comedy team of Hodge & Lowell is also among the stars and will present singing, talking, character work and changes.

There will also be two star photoplays, brand new, and the following swell programme by the superb Victoria orchestra: "Special Delivery," march, by Friedrich; "The Chocolate Soldier," selection by Strauss; "I'm Just Crying for You," medley march, by Monova; "Eleanor," serenade, by Deppen; "Morning, Noon and Night," overture, by Suppe; and "In My Harem," exit march, by Verlin.

Easter Season at the Grand.

The Grand brought another big week to a close last night, playing before "standing room only" audiences and providing delight in every way commensurate with the size of the tremendous audiences. The grand is now ready for opening its new week and will start off its Easter season with one of the biggest of all shows. The Grand management has made special preparations for the season of festivities. Every day is going to be feature day and the feature will be the masterpiece of some big concern.

The Grand management cares nothing for cost just so the people of Wilmington are pleased. So a big Easter week may be expected at the Grand.

The Easter Monday bill, opening tomorrow and continuing until 11 o'clock at night, will be a dandy, and every amusement lover should be certain to witness it. The freshest films from those great concerns, that bear the stamp of approval of the country, Kalem, Vitagraph, Biograph, Pathe, Lubin, Edison, Duo unknown quantity here), will be flashed on the immense screen, and the Grand affords large pictures, so as not to injure the eyesight. There will also be some splendid music by the wonderful Wurlitzer orchestra and, of course, the Grand's solid comforts, will be in evidence. The same old tiny price of 5 cents, afternoon and night, will prevail tomorrow.

Big Week at Bijou.

The biggest week in the history of the Bijou—yes, that's just what we mean—will be this week. Wednesday the Bijou will present the first installment of that enthralling motion picture novel "The Perils of Pauline," the greatest serial drama ever written, which is now running in Hearst's Sunday American. The American gives away $1,000 in prizes each week in connection with this story, and as one Wilmingtonian has already won a prize in this series, there is a chance for everyone. "The Perils of Pauline" will be presented one installment each week, the same as it is published in The American, and is one of the best motion picture ventures ever attempted.

"Our Mutual Girl" will be at the popular photoplay house again Tuesday in the fourth installment of her adventures, and will insure packed houses that day.

For tomorrow, the programme will be headed by a big dramatic production, "In The Days of His Youth," a soul-stirring photoplay, portraying the manner in which a father's heart responds to youthful memories, the story of a relation between father and son that is as old as humanity.

"Forgetting," a big imp drama, will be second on the list for tomorrow, in which such stars as Ethel Grandin and Hobard Henley play the leading roles.

"The Slippery Spy" is a big full reel Eclair comedy, the third on the programme, and the grand total is brought up to four big pictures with the presentation of "Twins and a Stepmother," another big full reel length comedy.

TO ENTERTAIN PARENTS.

Members of Boys' Brigade at Home to Fathers and Mothers.

One of the most enjoyable social occasions in the Brigade life will be conducted next Thursday night, April 16th, when the members will entertain their parents at the armory for the first time. The committee in charge of the arrangements is composed of the wives of the members with Mrs. J. J. Loughlin, chairman. Elaborate plans have been developed for the pleasure of the guests on this occasion. These plans have not yet been announced, but it is known that they will embrace a musical programme and refreshments and other good things which will add to the pleasure of the evening.

Every member of all the companies, A, B, and C, will be present with their parents, or sisters or the sister of some other member of the company which will make up a group of about three hundred people, all connected in some manner with the organization. There will be addresses by some member of each company reviewing the history and achievements of their company, which will give many of those whose sons are identified with the organization some information about the Brigade which will serve to make them more intelligent friends and helpers. Full announcement of the details will be made later.

AGED WOMAN DEAD.

Mrs. Ellen Frances Gordon Died at Home in This City Yesterday.

Many friends will learn with deep regret of the death of Mrs. Ellen Frances Gordon, widow of the late Louis Gordon, which occurred at the family home, No. 105 South Eighth street, yesterday morning at 6:45 o'clock. She was the mother of Messrs. J. T. and J. E. Gordon, the newsdealers, and Misses Dora H. and Alice P. Gordon.

She was 72 years old and was a woman who was loved by all who knew her. The bereaved family will have the tenderest sympathy of a host of friends.

The funeral will be held this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the residence. The interment will be in Oakdale cemetery.

Exhibition on April 20th.

The gymnasium exhibition at the Boys' Brigade, which will mark the formal closing of the gymnasium for the season of 1913-14, will be held on Monday, April 20th. There will be ten events comprising group work by the entire class. There will also be work on the apparatus of various kinds. All kinds of exercises will be given. During the seasons that the gymnasium has been open some splendid gymnasts have been developed so that the exhibition will be well worth seeing. The public will be admitted free of charge.

SUPPORT FOR STOCKS LACKING

Prices Eased Off Slowly—Only Small Amount of Business Owing to Holiday.

New York, April 11.—Aggressive support for the stock market was lacking today and prices eased off slowly. Only a small amount of business came in over the holiday and the foreign markets still were closed. Under these circumstances and with a week-end session the street looked for only a nominal market. Trading was limited largely to professional operations and while the movement was steadily downward the average loss was not severe.

Pressure converged on the steel stocks which were in disfavor on account of the large shrinkage of United States Steel's unfilled orders. Stocks in the steel group and shares of related companies were lower. Petroleum shares continued their decline and the Rumely issues made new low records at 7 1-2 for the common and 22 for the preferred.

In the railroad list Canadian Pacific displayed the same weakness which has been evident for several days falling to 198, a new low mark since 1911. New Haven weakened on its February statement showing another deficit. The stock broke to 66 5-8, within a point of the lowest price at which ever sold. Rock Island collaterals reached a new low mark at 33 5-8. St. Paul, Lehigh, Coast Line and Northern Pacific were sensitive to pressure. Otherwise the railroad list held up fairly well.

The bank statement reflected the return to normal channels of funds paid out to meet April 1st interest, and dividend requirements.

The mercantile agencies reported a better sentiment on account of the good crop outlook. Nevertheless, trade distribution was said to be disappointing, buying for future account cautious and generally conditions irregular.

Bond market quiet and prices steady. Total sales, par value, $1,540,000. Panama 2s declined 1-8; United States 2s registered o-9; the 2s coupon and Panama 3s coupon 1-4, and United States 4s registered 1-2 on call on the week. United States 3s coupon advanced 1-8. Total sales were 121,600, including American Tobacco 200; A. C. L. 100; C. & O. 500; Lehigh 1,000; L. & N. 100; Reading 8,000; S. A. L. 400; Tennessee Copper 300; U. S. Steel 40,000; U. S. ADVANCE IN WHEAT PRICE

Uneasiness Over Green Bugs In Oklahoma Had Much to Do With Rapid Advance.

Chicago, April 11.—Uneasiness over green bugs in Oklahoma had much to do today with an advance in the price of wheat. Largely in consequence the market closed steady at a gain of 3-8 to 1-2 to 5-8c net. Corn finished 3-8 to 1-2 to 5-8c down, oats unchanged to 1-4c lower and provisions off a shade to 2 1-2 to 5c. Corn broke sharply under selling pressure from leading speculators. Word that Argentine corn was being sold in Oklahoma had a depressing effect. Declines in cash prices at Kansas City and Omaha tended also to make the market heavy. Oats were unsettled but finally displayed most most sympathy for the down turn in corn. The chief contending influence was the weather hindance to planting.

Provisions sagged throughout the day. Lack of any important buying formed the main reason.

Grain and provisions closed: Wheat, May 91 3-8; July, 86 7-8.

Grain and provisions closed:

WEEKLY DRY GOODS MARKET.

Primary Cotton Goods Markets Were Seasonably Quiet.

New York, April 11.—Primary cotton goods markets were seasonably quiet during the week, owing to the holidays. Values remain generally steady. The coarse yarn gray goods are slow and weak wherever contracts are sought by mills; buyers are able to secure price concessions. Generally speaking, the mills have been able to sell their product to the end of April, and into May, and there are many instances of mills being fully provided with business for some months ahead. Print cloth yarns goods were less in demand. Some substantial sales of print cloth yarns and fancy goods have been made in the past week or ten days for deliveries carrying through the end of the year. Bleached goods are steady. Wide sheetings, pillow tubings, and some grades of towelings are snugly sold. Tickings are steady. Narrow prints have sold moderately well. Percales are well sold. There has been an improvement in the demand for wash fabrics and fancy cottons, and mills making sheer fine yarn goods have booked some substantial late business.

Prices on cotton goods are as follows: Print cloths, 28-inch, 64x64s, 3⅝c.; 64x60s, 3 7-16c.; 38½, 64x64s, 5¼c.; standard brown sheetings, Southern, 7⅝@8c.; denims, 9-ounce, 14c.; tickings, 8-oz., 13½c.; staple prints, 5½c.; staple ginghams, 6¼c.; dress ginghams, 9¾c.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

New York April 11.—Cotton goods markets were very quiet today. Jobbers had only a fair week, most of the retailers being busily active at the counters of their own stores. Linens were barely steady. Better prices were obtained for spot burlaps.

CIVIL COURT TOMORROW.

Judge Cooke Will Re-Convene Superior Court After Week's Rest.

Superior Court, for the trial of civil cases, will be re-convened tomorrow morning by Judge Charles M. Cooke after an enforced rest of one week because of a lack of cases ready to be tried. This is the third and final week of a double term of court which began March 30th. Last Monday when Judge Cooke found that there was not a single case of any importance that could be tried he adjourned court and went to his home at Louisburg.

A special committee was appointed from the local bar to prepare a calendar for the final week of the term and it was agreed that should any case placed on this docket not be ready for trial when it was called that it should go to the rear of the calendar. The jurors that were summoned to serve for the third week court will be used tomorrow.

—The board of Education will meet tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

MISSIONARY TO SPEAK.

Rev. W. G. Borchers Will Make Address at Y. M. C. A. Today.

Rev. W. G. Borchers, a missionary to Brazil, who is at home on a furlough, will be the speaker at the men's mass meeting at the Y. M. C. A. this afternoon at 4:45 o'clock. He will speak on his work as a missionary in Brazil, where he has spent many years. He is at present the pastor of the Methodist church in Rio de Janeiro, the capital of Brazil.

To those interested in missions the subject will be one of great interest. It is hoped that a large number will attend the meeting this afternoon. There will be singing of Gospel songs and special music by the orchestra. All the men of the city are cordially invited to attend.

Several Arrests by Police.

Willie Gavin and Henrietta Joseph, both colored, had a lively scrap last night in which neither was hurt. They were arrested by Policemen charged with engaging in an affray. Gavin was able to arrange bond but the woman had to go to the city prison. Alonzo Jordan, colored, alleged in a warrant that Walter Murphy, also colored, had pushed him up against a wall, and the latter was arrested by Policeman Jordan and lodged in the city prison. Policeman M. C. Huggins arrested Joe Hall, colored, for an assault with a deadly weapon on John Pearson. He is said to have brandished a knife around in a threatening manner. George Robinson, colored, was arrested by Policeman J. F. Jordan for disorderly conduct, and Sis Baldwin, colored, swore out a warrant charging him with assault with a deadly weapon.

COUNTY SCHOOLS WILL CLOSE AT EARLY DATE.

First Commencement Exercises Will be Held This Week.

Beginning with the commencement exercises of the Seagate school, which will be held next Friday night, April 17th, the county rural schools all will, during the next week or ten days, close what has been a most profitable and successful session. The students are now busy preparing for the closing exercises, most of which will be on an elaborate scale.

Following the commencement at Seagate on the 17th the school at Wrightsville Sound will have its closing exercises on Tuesday, April 21st. On the night of May 1st the schools at Winter Park, Acorn Branch and Oak Hill will have their commencement exercises. The Wrightsboro school will close on May 5th, and the Scott's Hill school on May 8th. The other schools have not fixed the date for their commencements.

CHARTERS ISSUED.

Raleigh, N. C., April 11.—The Anchor Stores Co., of Henderson, was chartered today by the Secretary of State with $625,000 capital authorized and $1,000 subscribed by J. W. Horner and Chas. W. Bryan, of Oxford, and Thomas G. Horner, of Henderson, for general department store business.

Another charter was to the Piedmont Electric-Chemical Co., of Charlotte, capital $100,000 authorized and $1,500 subscribed by I. Hechenleikner, D. C. Carmichael and E. R. Baker for general chemical and fertilizer business.

Villa and his men are bottled up in Torreon. It declares that 1,200 Federal soldiers deserted to the Constitutional army in the San Pedro battle which ended Thursday "with a complete victory for Villa's troops."

The Mexican embassy had previously issued this statement:

"Advices received at the Mexican embassy from Secretary of Foreign Relations in Mexico City indicate that the forces of Generals Velasco, Moure and Maas have united and proceeded to attack the rebels besieged at Torreon, thus carrying out the strategic plan initiated by Velasco.

Asks Intervention.

Madrid, April 11.—The Spanish foreign minister today asked Colonel Joseph E. Willard, United States ambassador to Spain, to request the government at Washington to intervene in favor of the 1,000 Spanish subjects expelled from Torreon.

According to official news received by the Spanish cabinet, from Mexico, the expelled Spaniards are in a critical situation and the government decided to approach the United States government in their behalf independently of the measures Spain is taking to bring her subjects back to her own country.

Enlisted Men Arrested.

Eagle Pass, Texas, April 11.—Arrested last night by Mexican Federals in Piedras Negras, opposite Eagle Pass, enlisted men of the Third Field Artillery, U. S. A., were surrendered this afternoon to American army officers upon the demand of United States Consul William P. Blocker, at Piedras Negras.

The three American soldiers, who entered the Mexican town in civilian clothing, were placed in the guardhouse at the border patrol camp here and will be court martialed for alleged disobedience of orders. All soldiers had been instructed, it is said, to remain from the Mexican side of the Rio Grande.

Expect Improvements.

El Paso, Texas, April 11.—Much improvement in the foreign relations of the Constitutionalist provisional government of Northern Mexico, it is predicted, will result from the meeting promised at Chihuahua next week between General Venustiano Carranza and General Francisco Villa.

Representations of the most vigorous nature have been pouring in on General Carranza at Juarez from Washington since the expulsion of the Spaniards from Torreon. Carranza, it is said, has made no direct replies to several of these representations and today it was said that the State Department insisted that definite written replies be returned. The question involved deals with the expulsion of Spaniards, the confiscation of property and the right of the United States to deal directly with Carranza in behalf of other nations.

Many among Carranza's advisers expressed the opinion today that Ysidro Fabela, acting foreign minister, was ill-advised in issuing a public statement yesterday quoting Carranza as exulting over the visit of H. C. Myles, British consul at El Paso, and pointing out that similar actions by other governments would greatly improve foreign relations. The statement pointed to the visit as a triumph for Carranza's policy announced at Nogales a month or more ago that he would insist on each foreign government making its own representations to him, rather than through the State Department at Washington. This policy later was modified to suit the wishes of Washington, but the statement was interpreted as contemplating the resumption of a stier attitude by General Carranza.

Consul Myles' Visit.

Consul Myles' visit, it was said, assured the security of British mining property in Northeastern Mexico. Some of Carranza's advisers who visited El Paso today declared the statement as transmitted was an exaggeration of Carranza's real attitude.

Carranza has been handicapped recently in dealing with both foreign and domestic affairs by the disordered condition at Torreon as the natural result of two weeks of severe fighting, the supervision of the organization of civil governments in southern cities recently captured, and the fact that his knowledge of affairs in the south must come by telegraphic correspondence.

A heart-to-heart talk between himself and Villa therefore, it is said, is looked on with high hope by other leaders. The two have not met since the Madero revolution, and since that time Villa has risen from the crude leader of a small band to the command of an army.

After the interview, it is predicted that Carranza will be able to render to Washington assurances satisfactory to both sides.

General Carranza, his staff and the personnel of the executive officers left Juarez today for Chihuahua. Next monday George C. Carothers, special agent of the State Department, will follow him, and will continue to Torreon if Carranza removes his camp to the scene of the recent battle.

Knowledge of the military situation east of Torreon remained vague today. The Federal evacuation of San Pedro was confirmed and General Velasco was reported still at Parras, 100 miles of Saltillo.

There were rumors of fighting but it could not be learned whether the Federals really were in that city in force or merely occupied the town with a rear guard left while the main body of the troops which Velasco took out of Torreon made good their retreat to Saltillo.

Looking for Lind.

Washington, April 11.—The Presidential yacht Mayflower, bearing John Lind to Washington from Vera Cruz, has not reported to the Navy Department since clearing the Mexican port Monday. She is expected here Monday or Tuesday.

Secretary Bryan, who plans to leave Tuesday night for Florida, said he expected to confer with Mr. Lind before starting South.

Warsaw, N. C., April 11.—Rivers S. Johnson, Esq., announces himself for the State Senate for the district composed of Duplin and Pender, subject to the Democratic primaries May 16th, and the convention of the 23rd. Mr. Johnson was a member of the State Senate in 1911 and has many friends throughout North Carolina and Virginia.

YOUNG NEW YORK MILLIONAIRE FLOURISHES MONEY AT ROCKY MOUNT.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Rocky Mount, N. C., April 11.—Alighting from southbound train No. 85 last night, Edward Crozier, of New York, son of a wealthy West Virginia coal mine owner, made a display of money that startled the station loafers and finally on his insistent demand was equipped with a special train and crew back into Richmond just two hours ahead of the regular night train.

According to what could be learned in this city, Crozier, with his secretary, were members of a special party traveling in the private car of Royal Rainey, the brother of the moving picture king, and it was when this city was reached about bedtime last night Crozier said going to Florida didn't suit him, and in fact, if he went any further it would be over his protest. So he left the train and party at this station.

GUN MEN ARE DENIED NEW TRIAL

cipal points in the testimony of each of the four witnesses; and in doing so I have not referred to the testimony of the affidavits in contradiction nor to the impression which was produced under my mind under their examination and cross examination. The impression was most persuasive of disbelief in what they said."

Making Chair Ready.

Ossining, N. Y., April 11.—While futile efforts were being made in New York City today to prevent the execution early next Monday of the four gun men convicted of the murder of Herman Rosenthal, Electrician E. O. Davis arrived at Sing Sing prison to engage in the preliminaries of the task set him.

A dramatic occurrence marked his arrival. Just as Jacob Rosenberg, father of "Lefty Louie" Rosenberg, one of the quartet condemned to die approached the prison clutching a petition from Rabbi Goldstein, asking for the postponement of the execution until next Thursday, he met Mr. Davis. When told who the man was the gunman's father muttered something under his breath, turned his face and rushed into the prison. Mr. Rosenberg saw his son for a few moments. Later he was told that his petition would be useless unless it could be presented to Superintendent of State Prison Riley, who had just left for Albany.

—Two bicycles were reported to the police yesterday as having been stolen Friday night, one being the property of Mr. S. W. Sanders, which was stolen from his Market street grocery, and the other being the property of John Sykes, Jr., which was taken from in front of the Coast Line restaurant on Front street. No clue has been found as to who the thieves were.

HYOMEI RELIEVES

Catarrh, Head Colds, Snuffles Almost Instantly—You Breathe It

Why delay and continue to needlessly suffer the ravages of catarrh. It is not only unnecessary, but dangerous. Try now—today—the Hyomei treatment for any catarrh ills, head colds, hoarseness or bronchitis.

The Hyomei process of banishing catarrh, relieving head colds and healing the raw and inflamed mucous membrane is not only most effective, but is quick, entirely harmless and pleasant to use—it's nature's way—you breathe it—no bad-tasting drugs to upset the stomach.

You cannot successfully reach the organs where the catarrh germs thrive except with antiseptic and germicidal air. The commonsense method is to breathe a few times daily health-restoring Hyomei. Being medicated air it goes right to the spot and immediately reaches all the diseased tissues. Its antiseptic healing begins at once.

If suffering from frequent colds, headaches, raising of mucus, spasmodic coughing, difficult breathing, or that weak and rundown feeling, surely try Hyomei. It's your duty to yourself, friends and family, for no catarrh victim ever enjoys good health.

Get from your druggist at once a complete Hyomei outfit, $1.00 size. Robt. R. Bellamy always sells it on money back if not benefited plan.

§ Easter Contemplations §

By T. W. Chambliss

Days have rolled by and we come again this morning to the Easter season—bright hearts should be in every home today. Nineteen hundred and nineteen years ago—the beginning of this glorious era. All the world has felt His influence. Especially our world. The memory of no other King is so honored and the service of no other life so loved. He fought no battles, as we count battles; He wore no crown, as we consider crowns; He wielded no sceptor, as we understand scepters. Yet He rules more hearts, directs more lives, reigns over more peoples than any Caesar who ever sat upon a Roman throne and boasted of the extent of his empire.

Almost more than nineteen hundred years have passed since He died and conquered death, rising from the tomb. The crowning event in history. The event teaching to man the crowning doctrine of Christianity. The doctrine of immortality—how it lifts man out of the domain of nature and places him upon equality with angels. That doctrine makes human life the vestibule; the ante-chamber to that building, whose supporting columns are the strong arms of the Almighty; whose builder is All Wise. Men in all ages have longingly looked toward the doctrine. In early days they builded the tower, hoping to climb by winding steps into the heaven of God. Their souls desired the bright region of immortal life.

Perhaps the most significant and sufficient evidence of the fact of resurrection of Jesus is found in the lives that have been transformed by the power of the living Christ. Multitudes have been raised from their dead selves and are convinced of the fact of the resurrection of Christ. From lives of death unto lives of better and purer purpose and thought. Every regenerated life is a witness in itself of the truth of the resurrection story. We did not see Jesus, and we cannot see Him. We have not seen those who did see him and it is not necessary that we do see them. We have seen men, who through faith in a resurrected Christ, have risen out of their selfishness; out of their worldliness; out of the low ideals and out of their sin. Seeing men of entirely renewed lives, of pure thought, of higher ambitions and sacrificial spirit, we know that Jesus rose from the dead and that He liveth for evermore.

The resurrection of Jesus Christ is more than a historical fact. It is a spiritual force and evidenced in the lives of men. Through fellowship with the Risen Christ men rise from death in sin to a life in holiness. "Now is Christ risen from the dead. Ye are risen with Christ." This is a great truth. It stirs our souls as it flashes upon us—risen men and women in Christ. We may realize the resurrection today and enter into its joy and power. Sitting in his Roman prison, Paul realized the truth, and writing to his friends back home reminded them of the beauty and joy of the mighty fact. Worn and feeble, aged before his time, bound with chains, awaiting his trial before the bloody Caesar, Paul knew that he was a risen man. The knowledge gave him confidence and courage and he proves equal to any strain and superior to every condition. In apt phrase Henry Van Dyke puts it thus: "In prison, he was free; in weakness, he was strong; in chains, he was cheerful; in exile, he was exultant; in trouble, he triumphed; in the drear of old age, his spirit was quickened to an immortal spring." With throbbing heart and exultant soul, Paul writes to his friends at Colosse: "Ye are risen with Christ."

More than a mere historical fact and more than a spiritual force, the resurrection of Jesus Christ is a prophecy and hope and assurance of future life. "Because I live, ye shall live also." In all ages men have nurtured and nursed the thought of life beyond the tomb. It is an instinct established in the heart of humanity. The thought is as old as the heartbeat and as natural. Travel backward to the history of every age and of every people and you learn that men have cherished the hope of immortal life. In the masterminds of every age, the sons of genius taught the doctrine of another life. Job, battling with temptation, trial and torture, exclaims, "I know that my Redeemer liveth, and at last He will stand upon the earth; and after my skin, even this body, is destroyed, then without my flesh shall I see God; whom I, even I, shall see for myself, and mine eyes shall behold and not as a stranger." Moses, David and Isaiah and other seers of Israel bore like witness to their soul longing and soul hope.

Socrates bears witness: "It would be wrong for me not to be grieved to die, if I did not think that I should go to the good and wise deities, and dwell with men who have departed from this life and are better than any who are here." Homer and Plato and Seneca add their testimony. Among the poets, Dante and Milton and Browning and Tennyson tell the same story of a soul trust and soul longing. Listen to Tennyson:

"Thou wilt not leave us in the dust,
Thou madest man, he knows not why,
He thinks he was not made to die.
And Thou hast made him; Thou art Just."

There is another poet, and listen to him, although it is true his character and conduct may not entitle him to enter fellowship with those named, but the deep insight into human nature justifies the quotation. Byron, at 25 years, reaches the height of literary fame, with Scott, Woodsworth and Southey at his feet. He died at 36. Byron puts it thus:

"I feel my immortality o'ersweep
All pains, all tears, all time, all fears, and peals
Like the eternal thunders of the deep,
Into my ears this truth; Thou livest forever."

We can go further. There are Shakespeare, Goethe and Victor Hugo and a host of others among the writers. Nearing the end Victor Hugo said: "The nearer I approach the end of my life, the plainer I hear the immortal symphonies which invite me." Belief in immortality is not the result of an argument, it is the expression of an instinct.

This is the glad message of the Easter morn. A message which causes all the chords of our being to vibrate with joy and hope. Christ is risen from the dead! The purpose of the resurrection—that man may rise with Christ. The promise of the resurrection, that man shall live also. The link between here and hereafter—the resurrection of Christ. He, who has risen, is here. We shall be with Him hereafter. Seek the things that are above. Be true to the best and loyal to the highest.

"Be a breeze from the mountain height;
Be a fountain of pure delight;
Be a star serene,
Shining clear and keen,
Through the darkness and dread of night:
Be something holy and helpful and bright,
Be the best that you can with all your might."

LOAN FUND FOR EMPLOYES OF MILLS.

Plan of the Carrs of Durham, Attracts Attention.

(Charlotte Chronicle.)

J. S. Carr, Jr., of the Durham Hosiery Mills, has inaugurated a plan for aiding the employes of his mill that is something new for this section of the country, and its workings will be watched with a great deal of interest by the manufacturing interests of the State. Should it prove successful, as Mr. Carr believes it will, it will likely come into general use with all the big manufacturing enterprises.

A year or so ago the Carrs put into operation the creation of a fund to be used for the benefit of the employes of the mill, this money to be available under certain conditions. This fund has grown until today it is nearly $4,000, all of which belongs to the employes. Realizing that many people working in the mill at times become pressed for money under conditions such that the fund is not available for their purposes, thereby necessitating the financially involved person going to a loan shark, Mr. Carr devised a scheme whereby these employes might secure a loan from their fund, thus saving themselves the large interest collected by the sharks. The plan as announced is as follows:

In order to aid the employes needing money, this board of governors will lend out sums to employes bearing good reputations. An interest of 6 per cent will be required from the loans and this money will be put into the fund. To get the money employes will have to fill out application blanks and have them signed by two other employes, over 16 years of age. No security whatever will be required and the money will be paid back to the board of governors each week, this being stated on the application blank. One dollar each week will be required, although in cases of sickness or other troubles the board of governors will have an opportunity to postpone the payments."

The fund is in charge of a board of governors composed mostly of old, reliable employes, and this board will meet weekly to act upon any applications for loans and attend to other business connected with the handling of the employes' fund.

In a card addressed to the employes the management sets out in detail the proposition as follows:

"Every employe of good standing, whatever his or her age or his or her position, having been in the employ of the Durham hosiery mill for as long as six months, will have the right to negotiate a loan of $20 on the following conditions:

"1. Any such employe over 16 years of age must present an application properly filled out, bearing the endorsement of two employes over 16 years of age, as to his or her character, habits and faithfulness and regularity as an employe. Regular application blanks will be furnished by the foreman of each department.

"2. When such employe is under 16 years of age the application must bear the endorsement as to character, habits and faithfulness and regularity as an employe of two fellow employes over 21 years of age.

"3. The loan will be made for six months with interest at 6 per cent with no bonuses of any kind. This 6 per cent interest will be credited to the employes' fund.

"4. The loan is to be repaid at the rate of $1 per week and is to be a lien upon wages until paid.

"5. The application, properly made out, is to be brought to the attention of the board of governors and the board of governors is to decide whether or not the loan shall be made."

The plan will only be used in the big Durham mill for the time being but should it meet with the expectation of the management it will be put into effect in all the string of half dozen mills operated by the company.

Formal consideration of the bill to repeal toll exemption for American coastwise ships was taken up early in the week by the Senate committee, while preliminary discussion of the measure continued in the Senate, and the House devoted itself to putting through the delayed appropriation measures.

INTERNATIONAL GOOD WILL

Another Bond in Project for Monument to Admiral Francois Joseph Paul de Grasse

Washington, April 6—Another bond of international good-will between the United States and France is about to take form in the project for a monument to Admiral Francois Joseph Paul de Grasse, commander of the French fleet whose aid made possible Washington's final victory over Lord Cornwallis, thus ending the Revolutionary War. The movement has been started by the Sons of the Revolution, and definite plans for securing the monument will be made at the triennial convention of the organization which begins here April 15th.

Admiral de Grasse, it has been pointed out by Ambassador Jusserand, of France, is the only foreign commander who helped this country in the Revolution, to whom no memorial has been erected. In speaking of him recently, the Ambassador declared that "nobody risked so much or did so much unaided for the United States as did de Grasse." The monument most likely will be erected here in Lafayette Square facing the White House, although Yorktown, Va., the scene of the final battle, also has been suggested. Statues stand here to Lafayette and Rochambeau, of France; von Steuben, of Germany; Kosciusko and Pulaski, Polish officers.

A committee appointed to take up the matter is prepared to report to the convention. General James Morris Morgan, of this city, chairman of the committee, states in his report that "what is proposed is distinctively a naval monument." "The memorial," he adds "should be a tribute to the French fleet, and should symbolize in some appropriate design the importance of adequate sea power in relation to shore operations, and include a central figure of Admiral de Grasse the responsible commander of that fleet who is entitled in history to all credit for what the fleet did." He points out that while one of the minor figures around the base of the Lafayette monument here represents de Grasse, the others being Rochambeau, Count d'Estaing and Brigadier General du Portail, this constitutes no reason why there should not be a statue to de Grasse, himself, especially as the Lafayette statue does not show who the secondary figures are, simply stating that it is to Lafayette and his compatriots. There is moreover a separate statue to Rochambeau, in Lafayette Square.

Endorsed by Navy League.

The proposition has been presented to the Navy League of the United States, and that organization, it is understood, stands ready to cooperate in raising funds for the monument, which it is estimated will cost $50,000. The Daughters of the American Revolution also will be invited to have a share in honoring the revolutionary hero. Franklin D. Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the Navy, has expressed himself as enthusiastically in favor of the project.

Had it not been for the successful sea cooperation of Admiral de Grasse, who bottled up the Chesapeake Bay in August, 1781, and prevented the British sea forces from coming up and joining Lord Cornwallis, it is doubtful, historians hold, whether Washington and his French land troops would have been able to compel the surrender of the British forces. In April 1781, de Grasse had defeated the British admirals Hood and Drake, off Port Royal, Martinque; then he came up and blockaded the York and James rivers and landed 3,000 troops who cooperated with American forces.

The arrival of de Grasse brought the Revolutionary War to its decisive stage. Washington, who had been operating against General Clinton at New York, withdrew his entire army southward to Virginia, where Lord Cornwallis, the British commander, was entrenched at Yorktown. Gradually the combined French and American forces cut off the British lines from succoror retreat, until in October, 1781, Lord Cornwallis surrendered his army of 8,000 men.

The Sons of the Revolution who meet here April 15th. plan to visit Yorktown and go over the field of the final struggle which established the United States as an independent nation.

For his services Congress thanked de Grasse. The Sons of the Revolution believe, however, that he deserves more substantial recognition, and propose to enshrine the memory of the services he gave this country in its fight for freedom, in lasting bronze and granite.

FAMOUS FAMILY RECOGNIZED

In Appointment of Miss Hampton the Chief Sponsor for Reunion.

Jacksonville, Fla., April 11.—In appointing Miss Corine Hampton, of Columbia, S. C., chief sponsor for the Confederate reunion to be held here May 6th to 8th, inclusive, Gen. Bennett H. Young, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans' Association, recognized one of the most famous families of the South. Miss Hampton is a daughter of Hon. G. McDuffie Hampton, of Columbia, and a grand daughter of the late Wade Hampton, one of South Carolina's most able, conspicuous and daring sons. In the course of a letter tendering the honor to Miss Hampton, General Young said:

"Wade Hampton is a name that conjures all Confederates. There is no honor that the surviving Confederates could do to his descendants that they would not be willing to bestow."

The position of chief sponsor is the highest social position that can be bestowed by the Confederate Veterans' Association, as the young lady who is tendered the appointment is queen of the reunion. Miss Hampton is one of the beautiful young women of the Southern States, accomplished and widely known.

Foreseeing the gravest international complications if the Mexican insurrectos should undertake the wholesale expulsion of Spaniards, the American State Department is expected to make urgent representations to General Carranza.

NOT ALL AT JACKSONVILLE

Many Other Things to Interest Delegates and Visitors to Confederate Reunion in May.

Jacksonville, Fla., April 9.—Delegates and visitors to the Confederate reunion at Jacksonville in May will find many things to interest them besides a modern, enterprising city. There are trips on the river, to the seashore and elsewhere that hundreds will desire to take before returning home. The only extensive orange groves of the Jacksonville vicinity are situated on the St. Johns river some miles above the city. A trip to them can be made in a few hours by river steamer and in shorter time by automobiles. The site of Harriet Beecher Stowe, author of Uncle Tom's Cabin, is at Mandarin among the orange groves. This historic residence, however, was destroyed by fire. Some miles higher on the river is Green Cove Springs, one of the picturesque wonders of America. A claim is advanced for this spring that it is the fountain of youth that Ponce de Leon was hunting when he discovered Florida.

One of the most interesting points around Jacksonville is Fort George island near the mouth of the St. Johns river. The island is a high and rolling tract of land, covered with subtropical trees and shrubs. Mt. Cornelia, the highest point on the island, is mentioned in United States coast survey as "the highest land on the Atlantic coast for 1,500 miles south of New Jersey highlands."

Some years ago, Hon. S. G. Benjamin, United States minister to Persia at the time he wrote, contributed an article to Harper's Magazine, on the islands of the Atlantic coast, especially Ft. George Island, in the course of which he said: "Nowhere on the face of the earth is there such a congeries of islands. They are full of attractions and are often overgrown in the most enchanting manner by oak forests, groves of palms and lianas, while the delicious sea breezes of a semi-tropical clime, and the historic legends of the past, invest them with a wonderful poetic haze, like the golden vapor that sunset weaves over the roofs and spires of a distant town. The peculiarity of Ft. George Island is, that, more than any other spot I have seen in our country, it seems to unite the vegetation of two zones. The pine and the oak assume a form and a richness that ally them to the rank vegetation of the jungles of the Amazon."

Another celebrated writer says of Ft. George: "From the top of Mt. Cornelia a view can be obtained unequalled probably in America for tropical luxuriance and coloring. Ft. George can be called without fear of dispute, the home of the palm, so noble and majestic are the specimens of this noble tree. Through these lovely woods wind the famous shell roads of Ft. George, forming a pavement hard and white as marble, over whose smooth surface the carriage wheels glide without a jar and which would tempt the most timid to mount the frisky bicycle. What can be more delightful than a six mile run over such a track, through the mazes of semi-tropical forest, with the salt breeze blowing up from the ocean, the song of the mocking bird, and the soft thunder of the distant breakers for an accompaniment!

"But perhaps the best feature of Ft. George Island is the salubrity of its climate. Exposed, as it is, to the full influence of sea breeze, and being composed almost entirely of high and dry land, it is free from any taint of malaria, and one can, without danger to health, live here winter and summer. While affording a delightful retreat from the cold winters of the North, it does not enervate and weaken the constitution, for the salt air of the Atlantic has a tonic property which counteracts the softness of the climate, and renders the atmosphere of Ft. George most conducive to health and longevity."

Directly across the St. Johns river from Ft. George Island is the village of Mayport, connected with Jacksonville by rail. Mayport is a typical Atlantic coast settlement, full of interest to the tourist and a favorite place for fishermen. Just below Mayport are the jetties at the mouth of the St. Johns. Fishing is as fine at the jetties as at any other point in Florida. A good fisherman can not spend a day there when fish are biting well, go back home and tell his story and be believed. Often it is a matter of physical endurance—a contest between the finny tribes of the ocean and man.

Traveling south from Mayport, the points of interest within easy reach of Jacksonville are Atlantic Beach and Pablo Beach. There is no finer beach on the Atlantic coast. The beauties of this beach were not recognized until the early '80s when a stock company, composed of business men of Jacksonville, was formed to develop the place. To be intelligently understood and appreciated, one must know that Atlantic Beach extends from the mouth, practically, of the St. Johns river 30 miles south. It is straight, sandy, gently shelving and free from rocks, snags and treacherous sand. The beach is but 16 miles from Jacksonville and is reached by rail or automobiles over a magnificent road. The trip from Jacksonville to this beach is one of the most delightful to be found in Florida, and will be a popular diversion for reunion visitors. There are good hotel accomodations both at Pablo and Atlantic Beach, the two places being only three miles apart. Surf bathing along Atlantic Beach is safe and delightful. Thousands of people go to the beach every summer to enjoy the ocean breeze, surf bathing and fishing.

The grand jury at the present term of Craven county Superior Court created quite a sensation when, in making their report to the judge, they stated that in visiting the county convict camp they had found this in a filthy condition and also found that several of the prisoners had been cruelly whipped by the guards.

Yellow poplar, or tulip tree, the largest broad-leaf tree in America, has been known to reach nearly 200 feet in height and 10 feet in diameter.

THE BABY BONDS

All Kinds of North Carolina Issues Coming Into Demand

To the Editor Charlotte Observer:

I see an editorial in your issue of the 2nd as to "Baby Bonds." In 1880 the State made an issue of $100 and $50 bonds and sold all of them. In July, 1911, when State issued $310,000 bonds due 1915, I bought this whole issue, and had the State to issue 100 $100 bonds, $10,000. I sold all of them. I recollect sending one party 3,000 of these $100 bonds and he kicked like a steer. I told him I would exchange, and finally offered him a premium for them. Well, I bought back these 3,000 $100 bonds and am getting now $10 a 1,000 more for them than the 500's and 1,000's are selling for. Do you know the average man does not know what a North Carolina bond is? I am educating them up to it, and a larger number of people now buy North Carolina bonds, who did not before. Do you know that most all North Carolina bonds come back and are bought by North Carolinians? They have faith in their State and are not afraid of any repudiation on honestly issued bonds. Every time a bond sale comes on, some of these holders of fraudulent bonds try to raise a scare and bugaboo about North Carolina's defalcation, and our papers, (some of them) copy their literature free, when they charge me by the inch for trying to build up North Carolina's credit. It is all a mistake to say North Carolina 4's in 100's or 50's will not sell, both are needed, of course wealthy people want 1,000's, not even 500's, they take up room in their strong boxes, for small ones, wheras a 1,000 bond stays snug in the box. Let the average farmer learn that he saves taxes by having North Carolina bonds and he will buy them. I even believe $10 bonds would be in big demand. I thought for some time small bonds would not go, but have changed my mind from actual experience. France issues $10 bonds, and they are over subscribed. New York City sells $10 shares of stock of the corporate city, over the counter, pays four and one-fourth. I have a $10 certificate of this corporate stock of New York and you know it kinder makes me feel big-headed to know that I own $10 worth of the metropolitan city of New York. When I go up there I feel like an old lady friend of mine said about her husband, said "he walks like he owned Raleigh and had bargained for Richmond." It makes me feel good to know I have an interest in New York. Let the State try it, next time issue some $10 bonds and interest her own citizens in their State, and they will take pride in buying them and feel more like they are interested in their State.

Mistletoe thrives on the western coasts to an extent not approached in the East. In many places this parasitic growth is responsible, directly or indirectly, for a considerable loss of timber.

COST OF ELECTRIC LIGHT

Facts and Figures About Incandescent Lamps, Explaining the Electric Light Bill.

(Selected.)

When one is able to figure out the exact cost of an incondescent lamp for one hour then it is an easy matter to understand the regular monthly electric light bill. In this way you can figure out the individual lamps which are costing the most and correct any errors in the lighting system.

You pay for electricity by the kilowatt. A kilowatt is merely a thousand watts. Watts is an arbitrary figure in electricity meaning the same as "horse power" in mechanics. Everyone understands what ten horse power means. It means that a motor, or engine, will produce energy equal to the work of ten horses. Now 746 watts are equal to one horse power. Therefore one watt is equal to 1-746 of a horse power. A thousand watts, or one kilowatt, is equal to one and one-third horse power. If your electric light bill says you have consumed 30 kilowatts it means that you have used 40 horse power of electricity during the month. If the monthly rate is 10 cents a kilowatt you will pay for this power $3, which is very little indeed for the use of "40 horses".

Assuming that tungsten lamps are installed, what will they cost per lamp? Look on the bulb of the lamp. You will find there a little paster giving the number of "watts" required by the lamp. Let us take the smallest lamp first. It is rated at "ten wates" and will give eight candle-power of light. If the rate per kilowatt in your city is 10 cents per kilowatt for one hour, or 1,000 watts, then it will cost 0.0001 of a cent for one watt and 0.001 of a cent for ten watts for one hour. At this rate the ten watt lamp could be left burning for 100 hours, or nearly four days and a half, before it would burn up ten cents' worth of electricity.

The next size is the 15 watt lamp which gives about ten candle-power of light. This lamp will consume 15 cents worth of electricity in 100 hours of continuous burning at the ten cent rate. In one hour it will consume 0.0015 cent's worth of electricity. In 10 hours of continuous service it will have burned up oonly 0.015, or a cent and a half's worth of current. The next size lamp is the 25 watt, or twenty candle power lamp. This lamp will burn for 40 hours before consuming a kilowatt, or ten cents worth of current.

The largest practical sized lamp for use in the home is the 40 watt lamp. This lamp should be used only where a large amount of light is necessary for short intervals. It will burn continuously for 25 hours for a kilowatt of current.

Now that we know exactly what each lamp costs per hour care should be taken in the placing and distribution of the lamps to see that the smaller sizes are used where the longest light service is required. On the porch, in the halls, the bathrooms, etc.

SAW ROBT. E. LEE SURRENDER

Col. Frank X. Ward Recalls Scene of Forty-nine Years Ago Last Thursday.

It was just 49 years ago today that Col. Frank X. Ward, then a colonel in the Confederate army, returned to the Confederate lines after a ride through the surrounding country foraging for his breakfast and heard that General Lee was about to surrender, says a story in the Baltimore Sun of April 9th.

It was just 49 years ago at about noon today that, sitting in the dining room of the home of Wilmer McClean, he saw through the open doors which led into the front room Generals Grant and Lee agree to the terms which ended the Civil War.

Colonel Ward is one of the very few survivors—if not the only survivor—who witnessed that event. A former resident of Baltimore, who practiced law here for many years, who for a time took a prominent part in politics and who once ran against A. Leo Knott for the office of State's attorney, Colonel Ward now makes his home in Philadelphia. He is visiting in Baltimore at present and, caught in a reminiscent mood yesterday, he told the story of the surrender over again. He was in the riots in connection with the movement through Baltimore of the Sixth Massachusetts Regiment on April 19th, 1861, and was one of the first to leave Baltimore to serve in the Confederate army when the war broke out.

In Service Throughout War.

He went to the front as adjutant of Bradley Johnson's first Maryland Regiment. He saw service throughout the war, and when the Confederate army withdrew from Pittsburgh on that Sunday night in April to start on the march which was to end at Appomattox Court House, he was a member of the staff of Gen. Cadmus Wilcox, in Longstreet's Corps.

Telling of meeting Lee, Colonel Ward said:

"I didn't bother about breakfast. I went into the dining room and through the open door I saw General Lee sitting in an arm chair in full uniform and wearing the sword which English officers had given him. On a sofa near by sat Col. Charles Marshall, General Lee's secretary, and Colonel Babcock, of the Union army.

"Presently there was a stir outside and General Grant came up the steps. He wore a blue blouse and his clothes were quite muddy. He wore no insignia of rank. He entered the room and General Lee arose. General Grant apologized for having kept General Lee waiting, saying that he had only just received his last note.

All Eyes on General Lee.

"General Grant had been accompanied into the room by a number of his officers, among them Sheridan, Ord, Gibbons, Seth Williams and General Grant's secretary, a dark-skinned man who looked like an Indian. General Grant now asked his secretary to draw up a table and the General

ROBESON COUNTY NEWS

Court Docket in Good Shape—Politics Warming Some—Heavy Frost—New Paper.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., April 11.—The two weeks' term of Robeson Superior Court, which convened Monday of last week, adjourned Wednesday of this week after putting in nine full days and clearing the docket of a number of old cases of long standing. Judge Rountree and the bar had enough to turn their heads while trying to straighten out some of these old-time cases, but they worked soon and late and did a lot of work.

One of the leading attorneys stated yesterday that the civil docket is now getting in good shape and that he thought by the time the May and June terms had been held, cases entered at one term could be tried at the following term as the law contemplates. There will be no criminal court until July, but there is no use of it, as at this time there are only two prisoners in jail awaiting court. The Recorder's courts of the county have about put the Superior courts on the bum.

Among the bills paid by the County Commissioners last Monday was one to A. B. Watson Company, supplies $35.54, and one to Parlor Grocery Company, supplies $263.19. Some people are of the impression that the Parlor Grocery Company is the Parlor Grocery, C. B. Redmond, proprietor, of Lumberton, but that is not so. The question is being asked where and by whom are these concerns located and operated. Both are said to be located at Rowland. The records in the court house show that the Watson Grocery Company was incorporated in 1911, but it does not show if any additional stockholders have been admitted since then. There is no way of telling who the Parlor Grocery Company is from the records, but judging from the amount of business it has been doing with the county for several months, it must be a big concern.

Heavy Frost.

This section was visited by a heavy frost yesterday morning, but little, if any, damage was done to vegetation, as the weather has been so cold that nothing could start growing. A good bit of cotton has been planted, but the ground has been too cold for the seed to sprout. There was frost a-plenty again this morning but not so heavy as that yesterday.

Mayor W. D. Tucker, Commissioner H. O. Covington and City Attorney M. L. John, of Laurinburg, spent yesterday in Lumberton inspecting the street paving. Laurinburg, it is understood, will have some work along this line, and has a committee investigating.

Mr. W. W. Willson, State deputy grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias, spent yesterday in Lumberton trying to wake up the members of the two lodges here, who have apparently been taking a long nap, so to speak. Mr. Willson can be heard for some distance when he speaks, and it would be a hard sleeper who would not rouse up when he is in town.

New Paper Starts.

The Lumberton Tribune made its first appearance Wednesday and was indeed a very creditable issue, when the difficulties under which it was gotten out are considered. The prediction of many is that Editor Johnston is going to give his readers a weekly paper second to none in the county.

By a change in schedule on the Seaboard, which goes into effect tomorrow, train No. 13 will leave Wilmington at 3 o'clock in the afternoon passing Lumberton at 5:35 instead of 5:52 as at present. No. 23 will leave Wilmington at 5 P. M. and Lumberton at 7:10 instead of 7:59 as at present. It is understood that No. 13 will do the local work, while No. 23 will stop only at important stations.

Lumberton's Biggest Easter.

Monday will be observed as a legal holiday by the banks, all of them being closed. The drug stores and a few others are beautifully decorated for Easter, some of them more elaborately than ever before. The orders for ice cream and flowers for Easter Sunday are far greater than ever before. The weather permitting, tomorrow will be the greatest Easter Sunday in several ways that Lumberton has ever had.

Mr. A. F. Wagoner and family, who moved here from Wilmington about two years ago, returned to that city this week and will again make it their home. Mr. Wagoner has been engaged in the cross-tie business here but that industry being about exhausted, he will engage in the lumber business.

The town authorities and officials of the telephone company held a meeting last Monday at the request of the telephone people. They wanted the ordinance requiring poles removed from Elm street rescinded, but for the second time the commissioners tied and for the second time Mayor White said the poles must come down. One of the officials is reported to have said that Lumberton is too small to be putting on airs, Be that as it may, it looks now that the poles must give way, and when that is done and the new lights are placed, Elm will be the prettiest street in the State.

Eggs 10 Cents a Dozen.

The bottom dropped out of the egg market here last Saturday, when they got down to 10 cents per dozen. The supply is, or has been, unusually abundant, and it is understood that bushels of them can be bought in the country at 12 1-2 and 15 cents, but the low prices are going to make eggs scarce.

Yesterday was the 87th anniversary of the birth of Mrs. Rose Pitman, of Fairmont, and, as has been the custom for many years, a family reunion was enjoyed, quite a number of relatives going from here. Mrs. Pitman has seven living children, all of whom were present. Among visitors present was Mrs. Stinson Ivey, widow of the late Rev. S. Ivey, who had charge of the Ashepole Institute 25 years ago. Mrs. Ivey is two months younger than Mrs. Pitman. Another very old lady present was Mrs. Sanford, widow of the late Rev. J. Sanford. Mrs. Sanford is the mother of Mrs. J. P. Brown. There were present 50 to 60 people and a most enjoyable day was spent. Mrs. Pitman does not use eye glasses, but uses a large magnifying glass to read with, and is as fond as anybody of reading the newspapers.

Talking Politics Now.

Politics is a subject of pretty free discussion now. County Treasurer McKenzie and Mr. Floyd F. Townsend are out in cards announcing themselves candidates for that office. Mr. C. B. Townsend, who is being urged to make the race for the same office, will decide by Monday what he will do. Mr. Geo. B. McLeod will again make the race for the State Senate, if his friends desire him to do so, and they are after him. Mr. H. E. Stacy also is considering entering the Senatorial race again. It will be recalled that he was one of Mr. McLeod's opponents two years ago when the latter won out. Mr. W. S. Britt, who has been mentioned as a probable candidate for the House, is still undecided.

Town politics are very quiet. A great many people think Mayor White should be kept on the job until the work now being done is completed. Dr. W. A. McPhaul is being urged to run for mayor, but he is still undecided. Three commissioners are to be elected, but so far candidates are few and far between. The town primary will be held on the 28th.

Now that Solicitor Sinclair has stated emphatically that he will not stand for re-election, the only candidate so far heard of is Mr. S. B. McLean, of Maxton. No better man than Mr. McLeod could succeed Mr. Sinclair.

Fertilizer Shipment Enormous.

To give some idea of the amount of fertilizers that have been distributed through this section during the last month, the writer is told by a man who is in position to know, that from March 16th to April 1st, the Seaboard hauled from Wilmington, including Navassa, 2,700 cars. Acme shipments, of course, are not included in this. While this has been going on on this division, other shipping points have been just as badly crowded.

At last the iron bridge across Lumber river at the foot of Fifth street is to be replaced with a double bridge with walks for pedestrians. The present single bridge is to take the place of a wooden bridge just below the plant of the Kingsdale Lumber Company. At the meeting of the county commissioners Monday the contract was awarded to the Virginia Bridge & Iron Works, of Roanoke, the price for installing the new bridge and removing the old bridge to the new site and installing it being $5,500.

Beginning Monday the Pastime Theatre will keep open until 10:30 instead of 10 o'clock, as has been the rule heretofore. People going in as late as 9:30 can see the whole show.

Chairman S. B. McLean has issued a call for a meeting of the County Democratic Executive Committee to be held in Lumberton on Monday, April 20th, at 11 o'clock.

An Easter concert will be given at the Methodist church tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock, the music being rendered by some of the best vocalists in town.

COST OF ELECTRIC

where only a small amount of light is needed but where the lamps are allowed to operate for hours, the small sized ten-watt lamp should be used, as one of these lamps can be used for a hundred hours continuously for a cost of but ten cents. In the bedrooms, den, for the reading table, etc., where a little more light is necessary, the 15 and 25 watt lamps should be placed. For the kitchen, dining room and living room, where a maximum amount of light is required, but for shorter hours of service, the 40 watt lamps are entirely suitable, or two of the 25 watt lamps may be used to give a better distribution of light. It is always better, whenever possible, to use two or more of the smaller lamps about the room instead of one large lamp, in order to secure a good distribution of light and avoid the glare of a single high candle-power lamp.

EASTER CHORAL SERVICE.

All Maxton Church Choirs to Unite This Evening.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Maxton, N. C., April 11.—On Sunday evening a musical programme, in the form of an Easter song service, will be given at the Presbyterian church by all the choirs of the town, under the direction of Miss Culbreth, of the Carolina College faculty. This promises to be one of the best musical events Maxton has ever had on such an occasion.

With the Man in The Street

The Wider Vision — Not a great many of us have this wider vision, for to have it one must have the power to look into the future, and an unerring foresight is one of the rarest traits of mankind.

But there are a few men in Wilmington who are looking on life through this wider vision, and they are the ones who are doing most to bring about the changes of thought and custom that are paving the way for the progress that is to come.

This preachment, let it be understood, contains no reference to religion or morality, but rather is with reference to things commercial—and the word is used in its widest sense. Religiously and morally Wilmington may be all right—that is a matter of opinion. Commercially she is still largely asleep—that is a matter of fact.

Surrounded by opportunities, advantages and resources greater than those upon which mighty empires—much less mighty cities—have been builded; blessed with a climate almost as pleasant as the tropics, and altogether free from the disadvantages which accompany tropical climates; located in the heart of a garden spot that, properly cultivated, is capable of producing food enough for many times the present population of the United States; touched by a river deep and wide enough to bear on its bosom the commerce of nations—in the face of all this, and other facts too numerous to mention, Wilmington still remains largely content to bow to the dictates of hoary-headed customs and to heed the mournful prophecies that are always in evidence when precedent is shattered, even by an innovation that cannot but make for the larger good.

But the tide of thought is turning, and under the leadership of those missionaries whose efforts are inspired by the larger vision, whose minds are attuned to the onward spirit of the age and whose ears have caught the deep pulsations of a world awake, the old town is undergoing a subtle evolution—an awakening that promises the ultimate fulfillment of all that is foreseen in the Wider Vision.

Voices—To many people the telephone is an impersonal thing, a necessary annoyance, something that must be tolerated, but to the man who sits in The Star office and answers the many that call every night to tell about some social affair, to give the particulars of a death or a funeral, to make suggestions about some policy of the paper, or to register a kick about the failure of the boy to deliver the paper, the telephone assumes a sort of personality, reflecting the individuality of the person who happens to be talking.

Most of those who call are strangers to him except he knows them by their voices. And as he listens to the telling of some interesting item of news, he often trys to picture in his mind the kind of person that is at the other end of the telephone. He listens intently with the idea of finding out, if he can, whether they are young or old, or whether they are at that intermediate stage that may be defined as doubtful. He trys to form a conception of how they look and because it is all guess work, the game becomes the more fascinating.

By far the larger number who talk to him seem well satisfied with life, most of them are patient, and if he doesn't understand the first time, do not get vexed if they have to call over a name again. On the whole, Wilmington people judged by their voices are a pretty decent sort of folk, even as they are when you know them face to face.

And to know persons simply by their voices is sometimes as much pleasure as to know them personally, and, perhaps, more. There are maidens in this town who can talk with such refined gentleness that their voices seem like the quintessence of sweetness, doubly distilled. No matter how troubled the waters may be, figuratively speaking, when they call there is immediately a calming of the disturbance, a forgetting of the work that threatens to overwhelm, and the man at the 'phone wonders why he ever got ruffled. He knows that there is no woman in all the world that can look as pretty as she talks, and somehow he imagines that if he should meet the young lady face to face that he would be sadly disappointed.

Then there is the other kind—but life is too short to talk about them. They have to be endured but fortunately their number in Wilmington is limited—and for that we are glad.

The Sweet Peas—My friend, the young man, interested in growing sweet peas, has succeeded in getting the whole neighborhood on Second street greatly enthused—pardon the word—over the subject of flower gardens. Back to nature is his doctrine and early in the morning about the time this scribe is beginning to sleep soundly, he rouses himself, dons his overalls and goes down to the garden for an hour's work. Of course he doesn't do this every morning, but some times varies his exercise by taking a walk.

But this is to be a dessertation about sweet peas. In the first place at this time of the year we think that every young man, especially those who are in love, should have a garden of sweet peas. The sweet pea blooms which come early are so expressive, conveying in gentle flower language those delicate thoughts that love always engenders.

For the young man not in love, but who wants to be, we warmly commend the flower garden either of sweet peas or of something else. For by that means all the young ladies will visit him and will admire the pretty flowers. And then most young ladies like industrious men, and a flower garden affords excellent exercise.

For those not in love, and who don't want to be, we have no words of advice to offer.

Such a man doesn't need advice.

For the maids and maidens we warmly commend a garden of sweet peas because in that way they will be provided with something to do. So many of them in Wilmington are burdened with leisure time that they should be relieved in some way. By all means plant a garden of flowers, of sweet peas, or beauty roses, and thereby furnish the body exercise and give the mind amusement.

For the tired father and mother who have to plan for Sammy and Mary and John and Susan and all the rest of the family, we recommend a flower garden because for a little while every day they can forget their worries and look straight into the heart of nature. That is the most peaceful rest, outside of sleep, that man can get.

To one and all we would say grow sweet peas, if you can and if you can't, grow beans.

Ole' Tuck Savage—Big "Tuck" Savage, genial, kindly and a friend to everyone, is no longer an officer of the law, having entered the service of a malefactor of great wealth. He was formerly Constable of Wilmington township, and a deputy in Sheriff S. P. Cowan's office, and his was a name to strike terror to the hearts of dusky offenders against the peace and dignity of the statutes made and provided.

But the police and county officers still remember how one of "Tuck's" victims got even. She was very black, very fat, and with a fearfully mean disposition, and her temper, when it blazed up, was quite uncontrollable. And it came about that "Tuck" once arrested her for disorderly conduct. She paid her fine and cherished a spirit of revenge in her heart.

One day "Tuck" and Leon George, one of the plainclothes officers, were deep in the heart of Brooklyn on the trail of a transgressor. They passed the house of "Tuck's" colored foe, and it happened that she was standing on the porch talking to one of her neighbors across the street. When she saw the officers she paused in her conversation, looked them over with a long and insolent stare, and then called across to her friend, in a voice audible a block away.

"Well, I declare, if dare ain't Mr. Leon George and Ole' 'Tuck' Savage."

And she dashed into the house and slammed the door.

What About the Men?—"You're having quite a lot of fun testing us about our 'sloppy' dresses, aren't you?" inquired a most charming little matron a few days ago, and the writer admitted that he did enjoy it.

"What about the clothes the men are wearing?" she asked, with a wicked little twinkle in her eyes. "I saw a young man downtown today in one of the new spring suits, and it was just about as much of an extreme as anything I've seen a woman wearing this year. It was ultra-English, and fitted its wearer almost as if he had been melted and poured in it. The trousers lent quite a decided emphasis of the fact that the young man must have formed the habit of horseback riding at an early age—you know they say that develops bow legs.

"And the hats, why they're simply a scream. I have to laugh every time I see a man wearing one of those awful looking, shapeless green things that are said to be so stylish just now."

"And furthermore," she continued, saving the most telling blow to the last, "I've been informed that there are quite a number of men in Wilmington today who are wearing corsets.

"So there now."

The Lady and the Mirror—The Man in the Street often has occasion to drop in at a certain office about the time the occupants are completing their day's work and getting ready to leave. And a little lady who queens it around that office during the day is always careful to make an elaborate little toilette before leaving. Perhaps that is the secret of the fine appearance she makes, for she always reminds one of some fresh, wholesome wild flower.

She keeps a little mirror off in one corner of the room, and a powder puff, or chamois, or some femine thing. She'll stand in front of this mirror and do things to her hair, and make a few quick passes at her face with the puff or chamois, and smile most contentedly at her reflection. And the Man in the Street looks on in fascinated awe.

Occasionally the little lady catches him watching her, and then she makes a face at him, and shakes her fist. And with perfect right, too, for he has no business watching that sort of a femine performance. He is a man, and as such is not supposed to know that ladies use powder, or how they manage to arrange their hair into becoming but awe-inspiring coiffures. For of such is the composition of femine attractiveness, a secret that belongs solely to that sex.

He Could Read Writing—One of the prominent business men of Wilmington has a friend living in the country, and recently had occasion to write him about some matter. He dictated a letter to his stenographer, later signed the missive and thought nothing more about it until last week when his friend came to the city. He dropped around to the office of his Wilmington friend and after passing the time of day and commenting on the weather remarked:

"Look here, John, I want you to understand that you don't have to send me a printed letter when you write me for I can read writing, even though I do live out in the sticks, go to sleep."

The Wilmington man assured him that he meant no reflection on his ability to read writing when he sent the letter, but that he simply took this method of getting the letter off as quickly as possible. But he wouldn't be convinced and remained firm in his conviction that he had been subjected to much humiliation.

"That's allright, for you city folks, John," he replied, "but I want you to understand that when you write to me I want a letter from you and not from your dadblasted stenographer. I don't give a hang for one of those gol darned printed things. I can read writing, I tell you."

He left sorely humiliated and perhaps he had a right to be. In this day personal letters are getting to be all too scarce. Everything is done by machinery and man is rapidly becoming a machine. There is little time and hardly any place for the purely personal. All is done by rule and rote, even to our resting and our recreations.

But while deploring the machine ways that mankind is acquiring we can't help but feel grateful to the man who invented the typewriter. For deciphering some of the handwritings of those who haven't learned to write is something fearful. It certainly is easier to read a printed letter.

FEEBLE OLD PEOPLE

Are Told How to Regain Strength and Vigor.

As one grows old, the waste of the system becomes more rapid than repair, the organs act more slowly and less effectively than in youth, the circulation is poor, the blood thin and digestion weak.

Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil is the ideal strengthener and body-builder for old folks, for it contains the very elements needed to rebuild wasting tissues and replace weakness with strength. Vinol also fortifies the sytsem against colds and thus prevents pneumonia.

Mrs. Mary Ivey, of Columbus, Ga., says: "If people only knew the good Vinol does old people, I am sure you would be unable to supply the demand. I never took anything before that did me so much good as Vinol. It is the finest tonic and strength creator I ever used in my life."

If Vinol fails to build up the feeble, old people, and create strength, we will return your money. Rob't R. Bellamy, Druggist, Wilmington, N. C.

himself wrote the terms of surrender. While this was going on every eye was centered on Lee. He was so calm that an observer might have thought that Grant was surrendering to Lee. When the paper was handed to Lee he took his glasses from their case, wiped them carefully and read in silence, smiling once.

"'General Grant,' said he, 'these terms are most magnanimous. But you have left out one word. You say that the officers shall retire to their homes and remain until properly—you have left out the word exchanged.'

"'I beg pardon,' answered Grant; 'if you will allow me, I will insert it.'

"There was some talk about the horses, which were the private property of the officers and men. General Grant agreed that these should be taken with them. 'They will help in their Spring plowing,' he said.

"When General Lee left, after having been introduced to Grant's officers, not a Union officer followed him to the threshold. They seemed paralyzed by his calm dignity."

The report of New Hanover county for the month of March has been completed, and shows a balance on hand April 1st, of $77,260.78. The total balance on hand March 1st was $93,609.08; the receipts for the month were $3,020.99; and the total expenditures were $19,369.29.

You'll Crow Over "GETS-IT" for Corns!

It Will Startle You How "GETS-IT" Gets Corns Every Time.

"One, two, three!" That's about as long as it takes you to apply "GETS-IT," the new-plan, simplest, surest corn cure the world has ever seen. Corn fussing is all over. Corns, corn pains and calluses are absolutely done for, from the minute you apply "GETS-IT." Forget the bother of useless plasters, greasy salves that spread and make toes sore and raw, little doughnut cotton rings that press on corns, forget knives, razors, scissors and the dangers of blood poison from drawing blood, and the contraptions and harnesses that simply make corns worse. "GETS-IT" never hurts the flesh, never fails.

"This Is No Place For a Crow. Her Corns Are All Gone. She Must Have Used 'GETS-IT.'"

"GETS-IT" is sold by all druggists, 25c a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

Face To Face Courtesy

GOOD telephone service depends largely upon mutual courtesy. The telephone is more useful to those who talk as if face to face, for civility removes difficulties and facilitates the promptest possible connections.

As in other intercourse, it often happens that two or more people wish to talk with the same person at the same time. Without courtesy confusion is inevitable, and the confusion is greater when the people can not see each other.

The operators must be patient and polite under all circumstances, but they will do better work if they meet patience and politeness on the part of telephone users.

The Bell Telephone service enters intimately into the social and business life of each individual. The best results come through the practice of mutual courtesy.

WITH BASEBALL IMMORTALS ON AND OFF THE DIAMOND

Anecdotes and Stories of Heroes of the Diamond Who Will Live Forever in the History of America's National Game.

By Billy Murphy

Tim Hurst, the veteran umpire, tells a good one on Bill Dahlen, one of the most famous ball players in the game, who formerly managed the Brooklyn Superbas. The tale concerns Dahlen's period of service with the Chicago Cubs under "Pop" Anson.

"Anson called Dahlen good and hard in a game I was umpiring in Chicago," said Hurst.

"Dahlen took it all without saying a word, but a few minutes later Dahlen remarked to me:

"'Now watch me bark that old fellow's shins.'

"Anson was not as agile then as he was in his younger days and he stooped with much effort. All through the game Bill made great stops only to throw the ball a few feet in front of the bag, and it was up to Anson to stop it with his shins.

"However, that was not the end of it. A few days later the White Stockings had to make a trip to St. Louis and Anson told Dahlen he would not be taken on the trip. Bill had been told that several times and he thought 'Ans' was fooling. The train left Chicago about midnight and Dahlen was with the rest of the club.

"When the train was about twenty-five miles out of Chicago, the conductor told Anson there were sixteen men in the party and he only had received fifteen tickets. Anson said there were only fifteen men and named the berths they occupied.

"The man in berth No. 7 says he is a member of the Chicago team," said the conductor, who was referring to Dahlen.

"He's stringing you,' replied Anson.

Poor Bill was asked to cough up and he couldn't.

The train was stopped and Dahlen was put off about thirty miles from Chicago. How he got back to Chicago only Bill himself knows, but he would not talk to anybody for a week.

Charley Comiskey, the "Noblest Roman of Them All," only the other day described a ball game that has about as many funny features as any we have ever heard of.

"The game," said Mr. Comiskey, "was played in St. Louis in 1882, between the Browns and the Athletics.

"In checking the baggage to Philadelphia, the wrong trunk was sent to St. Louis and the Athletics turned up with somebody's belongings, while the stranger whoever he was had their uniforms, and when the time came for the club to go out to Sportsman's Park their uniforms had not arrived.

"The Athletics were a well-dressed bunch of players. Some of them were regular Beau Brummels and it did not appeal to them to play ball in their street clothes, particularly as a light shower was falling and the grass was wet.

"But the Browns had no extra uniforms in those days and the Athletics must play as they were dressed or not at all. They elected to play. The Athletics took their places on the field in 'biled' shirts and straw hats and the capers that they cut set the crowd wild.

"Knouff and Fusselback were their battery, and while they were good enough to win an ordinary game, this was an extraordinary one.

"The Athletics hit George McGinnis for nine hits, but once on the bases they were done—they did not dare to take liberties in running.

Harry Stovey scooped them up at first base, while Bunny Larkin managed to gather in nine out of eleven chances at second without splitting his clothes. Steve Corey was on third and Houck at short.

"The circus of that day was in left field where 'Blondy' Purcell lived. Left field was wet and 'Blondy,' attired in a light suit, white necktie and patent leather shoes, hesitated to take the plunge.

"Finally he rolled up his trousers and pranced about after such balls as came his way.

"Those who saw 'Blondy' that day remember his antics still, and those who did not see him but remember the man, can conjure up the immaculate 'Blondy' doing this stunt.

"'Cub' Stricker and Coleman were in the other two fields. The first three innings failed to yield runs. We both scored two in the fourth inning leaving the score a tie. In the sixth inning Tom Dolan drew a free pass, went to second on Latham's out at first, and scored on my single.

"That's the way the game ended—Browns, 3; Athletics, 2."

Charley Dooin, of the Philadelphia Quakers, tells how his young pitching star, Eppa Jeptha Rixey, Jr., took off ten pounds in a Pittsburgh hotel.

This is the way it happened: The management of the hotel declined to repair elevators on Sunday and for twenty-four hours not a wheel turned.

Now, Eppa was established on the ninth floor, together with Beals Becker, and when he drifted in one Sunday night, he took it for granted that Beals was in the room.

With a muttered remark anent the thoughtfulness of hotel proprietors, Eppa started to climb the nine weary flights of stairs.

Panting and drenched with perspiration, he tried the door of 914. Horrors! It was locked!

Why, oh, why, had he not asked for the key as he came through the office?

Painfully, Eppa trudged down nine flights to the office. The clerk smiled, sympathetically.

"Mr. Becker just took the key and I believe he started up that other stairway."

The weary collegian once more climbed the nine flights, comforting himself with the many things he would tell Becker once he reached the top. Buckets of woe! Becker was not at the top.

Again Rixey dragged his weary bones down those stairs. At the bottom he met Becker just starting up and collapsed in his arms.

Becker Had Stopped for a Drink of Water

Becker explained that he had stopped to get a drink of water and the two trudged wearily up those nine flights of stairs to the feathers.

One of the most delightful things about Umpire Jack McCarthy, who is another character of the game, is his willingness to admit that umpires are human and therefore not infallible. Any old time Jack is willing to sit down with a bunch of friends and recall the times that he has erred. It is this frankness, this willingness to acknowledge mistakes—and they all make 'em—that accounts for his popularity with the players.

Jack may be dead wrong on a decision, but the players do not hold it against him.

McCarthy believes that he holds the world's record for making a wrong decision. He admits having called a man safe who, by actual count, was put out three times on the play. It was not due to any lack of ability on his part, but due to one of those peculiar and unexpected situations that makes baseball the most fascinating of pastimes.

In 1907 McCarthy was officiating on the bases in a close game between Cleveland and New York on the former's grounds. Jack Sheridan was working behind the bat.

It was the ninth inning and the score stood 1 to 0 in favor of Cleveland with two out. It so happened that the lead, and the home crowd naturally was not in a mood to give the umpires the benefit of the doubt. Frankly, they wanted a shade.

Joe Yeager of New York came to bat with two out. He rolled an easy grounder to Bill Bradley, the Cleveland third baseman. Bradley, with all the time in the world at his disposal, tossed the ball ten feet over George Stovall.

McCarthy, convinced that the spuere would not stop short of the bleachers, ran to second, expecting a play on Yeager at that base. Turning around, he saw Yeager hugging first, and naturally ruled him safe.

He was amazed to see Lajoie, the shortstop, and other infielders throwing away their gloves and starting for the club house.

There was an awful roar from the crowd.

"Say, Jack, you sure missed that one," said Lajoie, walking over to him. "Yeager was out three times. If they score a run in this inning we will have to carry you out of the park."

To make things as easy for McCarthy as possible, Lajoie picked up his glove and returned to second base. The other infielders followed his example, and the game was resumed with the stands in a turmoil.

Jimmie Williams smashed the next ball pitched to the right field fence for two bases, Yeager being held at third. A single meant two runs, the game for New York and rough treatment for McCarthy.

Jack was the most unhappy person imaginable. He realized that he had slipped on the decision at first but was at a loss to account for it.

Jim McGuire the next man up, smashed a line drive at Hess, the same gent who is now pitching for Boston. Hess speared the drive with one hand, giving the game a spectacular finish.

Cleveland having triumphed, the fans, in their joy, forgot that such a person as McCarthy existed, and he left the park unnoticed.

Naturally you all are wondering how Jack called Yeager safe when he was out three times.

When Bradley made his high throw, McCarthy figured that there was no chance to get Yeager at first.

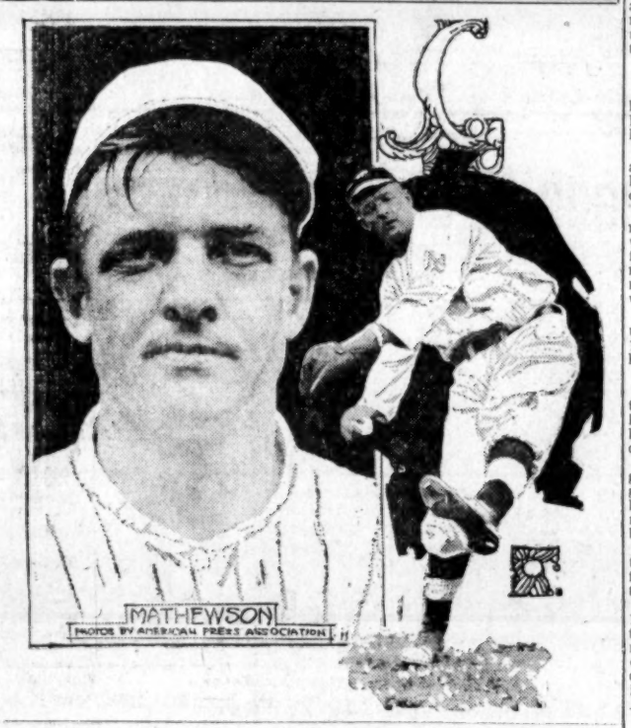
But instead of standing on the base and jumping for the throw, Stovall ran back about fifteen feet and made the catch. Yeager had cut first base on his way to second, not figuring on Stovall's remarkable play.

Willie Keller, who was coaching at first, saw that it would be suicidal for Yeager to try to take second, and ran out in the diamonds and stopped him by main strength. Yeager was out because of Keller's interference. Before Yeager could return to the base Stovall ran back and touched it. This made out No. 2. Stovall then walked out and touched Yeager on the line, retiring him for the third time.

All this, of course, happened almost before you can bat an eye.

And Jack, poor geek, hustling down to second, was oblivious to the momentous series of events taking place behind his back.

THE GREATEST OF THEM ALL.



IN THE SPORTLIGHT

News and Reviews of the Week in the World of Sports.

The Case of Cobb.

While considerable gossip is raging back and forth as to whether Collins is the greatest ball player now extant, as John McGraw suggested last Fall; as to whether Johnson is the most valuable, or Speaker is the greatest of all-around outfielders, loud and incessant noises are bulging out of the South as of something long and round meeting a baseball squarely on the frontispiece.

The echo, G. Reader, arises from Ty Cobb training hard in March for the purpose of obtaining a running start and proving again that he is the most valuable, or at least the greatest of them all. Tyrus the Terror has been overshadowed a bit of late, but all for that his record is probably the most remarkable ever established. Absorb for the moment a succulent statistic or two.

Wagner Averaged .344.

Hans Wagner for seventeen years has a grand batting average of .344. For his first nine years in the big show he average .350.

Larry Lajoie for eighteen years has a grand batting average of .351. For his first nine years he had an average of .330.

Cobb has been in the game for only nine years, but in that time, starting with the low average of .240 for his first campaign, he has compiled the munificent average of .371 for his career to date—far in front of the rival field.

Not only that—that hasn't batted under .375 for five seasons—since 1908. And in the last four years he has averaged a trifle over .400!

Has Led for Several Years.

In addition to which Cobb has led the American League in batting the last seven consecutive years, and he has led both leagues in batting six out of the last seven starts.

In that period he has averaged a greater number of stolen bases and a greater number of runs scored, which leaves him by all odds the greatest record on attack ever compiled in baseball annals.

Wagner has led his league in batting eight times in 17 years, Lajoie four times in 18 years and Cobb seven times in nine years.

In 1911 Cobb batted .420 and in 1912 he reached .410. Last Spring, through a misunderstanding as to the minimum wage to be paid center fielders who could hit .400 or better he drew a late start. He was well back in condition and so only registered .390.

At Best Under Fire.

T. Raymond Cobb belongs to that type that rises to its greatest height under fierce competition. Cobb was undoubtedly piqued and peeved last Fall at the widespread report proclaiming Eddie Collins the successor of Hans Wagner as the most valuable ball player alive. He had the hunch that he had been overlooked in the shuffle despite the fact that he led both leagues. This season he hopes to equal his 1912 record, when he smeared all past performances by giving vent to 248 hits, 147 runs and 83 stolen bases. Quite a tidy Summer's work as such things go.

Cole vs. Ford.

Speaking of coincidences, which we intend to do right here, the case of King Cole and Russ Ford is an interesting one. Back in 1910 these two young uebutantes led their respective circuits. Cole, a Cub recruit, won 21 games and lost but 3. Ford, operating with the Yanks, won 26 and dropped 6. Both began to skid a bit after that wonderful start. But for 1914, as Ford moves from the Yanks to the Buffalo Feds, Cole takes his place, working once more under the manager who lifted him from the tonsorial league to the big tent.

The Fate of League Leaders.

Leading a league in pitching seems to be considerable of a hoodoo. Cole and Ford led their two circuits in 1910 and both have drawn a jerky time of it since. In 1911 Bender led the American and the next campaign was one of the worst he ever knew. In 1912 Joe Wood led the American and Hendrix the National. And a year later Wood was crippled and out of it, while Hendrix dropped far down the list, winning less than half his starts.

The citizen who led the American League last season was Walter Johnson. He may be so harassed by the fates this season that he will be unable to win 35 or 40 games.

A Message of Cheer.

"Johnson will show more stuff this season," says Griff, "than he has ever shown before."

This is the most cheering message that A. L. batsmen have ever drawn. They have never been able to see what he had before and the change will be a welcome relief.

Some day ball teams will learn to remain South and follow the peach blossoms northward. Then there would be a chance to have a team open the season in condition.

Hugh Jennings has his men practice standing high, and running broad jumping as a part of training. Some of them would smash a record if a Fed scout came near.

Naturally we are of a trusting and unsuspicious nature, but when a gent opens a pot, draws three cards and calmly shows down three sevens and a pair of fours we cash in.

The Feds claim they have $54,000,000 behind them, but they don't know what is before them.

Billy Shettsline is striving to persuade Seaton and Brennan to jump back to the Phillies. That is like asking a colored boy to abandon a watermelon and eat hoecake.

Frank Baker wasn't feeling very well, and made only a triple, a double and two singles in a recent game at Baltimore.

My Old Kentucky Home.

(Words arranged to suit Spring training.)

The rain pours down on my old Kentucky home,
'Tis snowing; the ball ground's all ice;
The mud's knee-deep and the river's on the rice,
And the secretary's hustling for the price.

Foiled Again.

Up stepped the bold J. Gilmore, and he spoke in ringing tones:
"The Feds have got a bank account of fifty million bones!"
And Rockefeller heaved a sigh: "'Tis passing strange," said he,
"That such a pile of money ever got away from me!"

SIX HITS A GAME

Jimmy Williams, Last Player to Turn Feat, Did So in 1902

The major league player able to manufacture six hits in a game seems to be, like the dodo, extinct. Athletes, season after season, come through with five hits in a game, but getting six safeties seems to be an impossibility.

The last major leaguer to secure half a dozen hits in one game was Jimmy Williams, and he turned the trick on August 25, 1902, when he was one of the orphaned Baltimores, in a contest with the Chicago White Sox for whom Clark Griffith and "Dommy" Leitner were pitching.

Is Unusual Feat

It would seem to be an impossibility for a player, whether of the major or minor leagues, to get five hits in a game without hitting safely before the twelfth inning, but Jack Knight, one of the new Naps, did that when he was one of Connie Mack's employes, on September 1, 1906.

On that day Philadelphia and Boston battled for 24 innings, and Knight made five of his team's fifteen hits off Joe Harris. Up to the twelfth Jack did not procure a bingle. In that session he tripled, in the fifteenth he again tripled, and in the eighteenth, twentieth, and twenty-third he singled.

Jack Coombs, Jack Knight, Danny Murphy, Harry Davis, and Bill Carrigan are the only players still in fast company who took part in that memorable battle.

FACE LONG ODDS

Chances of Public to Beat a Horse Race Two in Five

Do you "play" the ponies?

Well, then, it's a pretty safe wager that, like the others who do, you figure that when you lay a bet on a heavy favorite the chances are more than even that the first choice will canter home ahead of the field.

But you figure wrong. The chances are only two in five—no matter how big or small the field—that the favorite will win. And the chances of an outsider winning are almost as large as those of the favorite.

This average not only relates to the 1912 results, but to all the races staged in the last eight years. Forty-one out of every 100 favorites won last year. In 1912 it was 40, 1911 it was 40; 1910, 42; 1909, 43; in 1908, 40; in 1907, 39, and in 1906, 41.

Statistics compiled by the Chicago Racing Form, covering 4,708 races run last year over the most important tracks in the country, show that the favorites finished in first place only 1,912 times against 1,695 outside winners. In 1912, out of 4,328 races, the favorites won only 1,747 times, against 1,575 victories by outsiders.

"Buck" O'Brien Remembered.

This fellow "Buck" O'Brien is a comedian. The other day Vean Gregg, of the Cleveland Naps, was warming up alongside "Buck" at Hot Springs.

"Do you remember the time I got a home run off you, 'Buck?'" Vean asked.

"Yes," "Buck" snapped back, "but that was in a practice game." A laugh went through the Indian outfit.

A few minutes later Gregg got back at the Irishman.

"I remember once, 'Buck,' that you cleaned the sacks, too," he remarked.

"When was that?" "Buck" queried, swelled up a bit.

"One time—with a brush and some sapolio."

O'Brien was pitching for the Yanigans. Manager Hendricks was calling off the batting order and forgot O'Brien. It had happened that "Buck" had pitched three hitless innings the day before and was feeling good about it. Hendricks went on calling off the names, but there was no O'Brien. Finally, "Buck" took off his cap, scratched his head, and, grinning at Hendricks, said:

"Jack, do you recall whether or not there is an O'Brien on that team?"

The Opening Game.

"You are glad, Lawyer Quibble," the stranger spoke,
"When you gaze at the baseball dope;
You smile as you would at a regular joke;
You'll tell me the reason, I hope."

"It is true," he replied, with a smile on his face,
And he tangoed about in his glee;
"They have gone into court with the Killifer case,
And it opens the season for me."

Talk in Dollars.

In ancient days the baseball scribe
would take his pen in mitt
And write of single, stolen base and screaming three-base hit;
Of base on balls, and wild pitch, and boot and bonehead play,
And other stunts that go to make a heated baseball fray.
It was a pleasure once to read the baseball writer's lines;
But all the baseball tales today are full of dollar signs.

A Retort Courteous.

Mister Klem, umpire, was umpiring a game between the Giants and White Sox at Sydney, N. S. W., and Sam Crawford was at bat. A fast ball cut low across the plate.

"Strike one," averred Mister Klem.

"That was below my knees," said Sam, mildly.

"No," replied Klem, "your knees didn't come up when you were seasick; you just imagine they did."

Mumblings of Marquard.

I do not mind the raucous jeers along the thespians' trail,
I do not mind the bleachers' roar when losing is my tale,
I do not mind the little drops that fill life's brimming cup—
But I hate to hear the umpire shout:
"Play ball!" with Baker up.

Connie Is "Reasonably Sure"

* * * * * * * *

A. L. Wizard After The Flag

Philadelphia, April 11. — Connie Mack, manager of the champion Athletics, has little doubt he will again win the pennant in the American League, and the championship from the National League. He is not talkative, but these are his opinions of his chances in 1914:

"Picking the winner of a baseball championship before the season starts is just about as easy as trying to strike out Ty. Cobb. You may do it, but the chances are largely against you. Every club has a quantity of material which it takes South in the Spring and no one, not even the manager himself, knows just how the recruits will perform in fast company. They may appear to be world-beaters in early practice and then "blow up" when it comes down to the real task in the championship race, or they have the goods, and the manager fails to realize it.

"For instance, I have several youngsters with me in Florida who bear the earmarks of ball players, but I would be foolish to claim that I have another Eddie Collins or Eddie Plank.

"So far as the Athletes are concerned, I have not much doubt but that we will again lead the chase at the end of the season, although it is not a certainty. We won the world's championship in 1911 and were looked upon a sure winner in 1912, yet we did not even win the pennant in our own league. That shows the uncertainty of baseball, and I believe in proceeding along the lines of fighting for every game. One counts just as much as another and if the men try to win all their games there is no room for excuse at the end.

Whether my players will stand up under the strain is a question which I cannot answer. Personally, I hope and think that they will, but it must be remembered that two of my best pitchers—Bender and Plank—are no longer youngsters and 'Father Time' will take his toll when he is ready. Should they go along as well as last year, I cannot see how we are to be beaten, despite the strengthened condition of our rivals. I have practically the same team as last year, and we hope Coombs will be able to help us out this season.

"My infield, of which I am justly proud, remains the same, and I don't now how I would improve upon it even if I so desired. McInnis, Collins, Barry and Baker are young players and should grow steadier with each succeeding year. They work together in perfect harmony and understand one another so well that I do not have to bother with them at all.

"I look for a hard race this year, with some probable surprises, but except for accidents or illness, I feel reasonably sure that the American League gonfalcon will again float at Shibe Park in 1915."

Healthful Competition.

Said R. B. Ward, when counting up
His credits and his debits,
"I trust that I may be the guy
To put the ebb in Ebbets."

Blood Trouble Often A Puzzling Question

The Searching Power of a Great Remedy Answers the Worst Riddle.

Thousands Have Solved It With S. S. S.

It is now known that the germs of blood disorders are found in the minute spaces of the tissue fibres. They can be seen only through a powerful microscope. And it is in these spaces that S. S. S. goes to work rapidly, effectively and with wonderfully noticeable results.

This famous blood purifier contains medicinal components vital and essential to healthy blood.

There is one ingredient in S. S. S. which serves the active purpose of stimulating each cellular part of the body to the healthy and judicious selection of its own essential nutriment. That is why it regenerates the blood supply; why it has such a tremendous influence in overcoming eczema, rash, pimples, all skin affections, rheumatism, sore throat, weak eyes, loss of weight, thin pale cheeks, and that weariness of muscle and nerve that is generally experienced by all sufferers with poisoned blood.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. at any drug store, and in a few days you will not only feel bright, and energetic, but you will be the picture of new life.

S. S. S. is prepared only in the laboratory of the Swift Specific Co., 221 Swift Bldg., Atlanta Ga., who maintain a very efficient Medical Department, where all who have any blood disorder of a stubborn nature may write freely for advice.

S. S. S. is sold everywhere by all drug stores.

The progressive Democratic mass meeting in Raleigh Wednesday held noon, afternoon and night sessions, over which Governor Craig presided, heard addresses by Senator Pomerene, of Ohio; Secretary Daniels, Governor Craig and others, and just before adjournment, after midnight, adopted the following resolutions to be presented to the Democratic State Convention to go into the platform: For a State-wide legalized primary for County, State, district, legislative and national offices; ratification of amendment to the constitution looking to a revision of the tax system; restriction of private, local and special legislation by the General Assembly; increased interest in public health and public morals; enforcement of the prohibition law, with the addition of a new law holding criminally liable owners of property who rent it for unlawful purposes; increased attention to public roads and using convicts on such roads; revision of the penal system adding the indeterminate sentence and the parole system; continuation of the fight for relief from alleged discrimination in freight rates; continuation of the investigation of alleged discrimination in fire insurance rates; for rural credits; teaching agriculture in the schools; prohibition of the employment in factories of any child under 14 years of age and at night of any child under 16 or of any woman or girl of any age; favoring the reference of a constitutional amendment for the initiative and referendum to the people; recommending that persons holding passes or having remunerative relations of any sort with public service corporations be not chosen for legislative, judicial or Congressional positions; additional legislation for the conservation of natural resources.

The Week Locally

Harmony was the keynote of the progressive Democratic mass meeting in Raleigh Wednesday, according to Hon. Jno. D. Bellamy, who returned to the city Thursday, and who talked enthusiastically of the meeting.

Definite announcement has been made of some of the features of the Redpath Chautauqua which will be given here under the auspices of the local Y. M. C. A., early in May, continuing through a period of seven days. The different attractions and lectures will be given under a large assembly tent, which will probably be erected at Winoca Terrace.

Beginning Friday, April 10th, and continuing for one week, the annual Feast of Passover, or of Unleavened Bread, will be celebrated in Jewish homes and synagogues throughout the world. Rev. Dr. S. Mendelsohn, rabbi of the Temple of Israel, held services at the temple beginning Friday at 6 P. M. Services were also held Saturday.

In honor of Hon. Frank B. Wickersham, of Harrisburg, Pa., Supreme Regent of the Royal Arcanum, and a number of the officers of the North Carolina Council, Cornelius Harnett and Carolina Councils entertained at a joint meeting and reception in the Odd Fellows' Hall Monday evening and later at an elaborate banquet at the Colonial inn, the occasion proving the most notable socially in the history of Arcanianism in Wilmington.

All records in the office of the register of deeds of New Hanover county are due to be smashed again when the general, unified 50-year gold mortgage, executed by the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company, on all of its property, to secure a bond issue not to exceed two hundred million dollars will be filed for record here. A new record was set only a few months ago, when Swift & Company filed a unified mortgage securing a bond issue of fifty million dollars.

After calling the docket for Monday and failing to find a single case of any importance that could be tried on account of the attorneys not being ready to try the cases, Judge Chas. M. Cooke adjourned Superior Court until next Monday morning when a new docket arranged Monday by a committee from the local bar will be taken up. Judge Cooke called on the members of the jury as witnesses that he had tried faithfully to discharge his duties as presiding judge and was unable to do so.

Recommending in strong terms that the dumping of night soil in the southern part of the city be stopped and that the telephone poles on the public road leading from Wilmington to Scott's Hill be removed; and finding that the public roads of the county with the exception of the Holly Shelter road, between Castle Haynes and the Pender county line, as well as the various county institutions, are in good condition, the grand jury for the April criminal term of Superior Court made its report Monday night.

For the purpose of effecting an organization of those interested in building and maintaining good roads, a meeting of a number of citizens from Wilmington and New Hanover county was held Tuesday at which officers were elected for the ensuing year and a constitution adopted. The meeting was called to order by Mr. A. B. Skelding, who stated briefly the objects of the organization, after which Mr. D. Tucker Brown, of Chapel Hill, made a short talk about the work of the State association.

That Wilmington and the surrounding territory is receiving the serious consideration of farmers who have settled in the extreme Northwest and who are becoming dissatisfied with the short growing seasons and severe winters there, and are casting about for a more favorable location, was the statement made by Commissioner Frank Barry, of the Commercial Club, to a Star man, in proof of which he exhibited more than half a dozen letters and inquiries which he had received within the past two weeks.

Making the second within a day to die from gunshot wounds, John Graham, colored, was killed outright Sunday night at 6 o'clock, at the home of Sandy McKoy, colored, at No. 204 Davis street, the shot having been fired, according to witnesses, by McKoy. John Grady, colored, well known in police circles, died Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock at the James Walker Memorial Hospital of pneumonia caused from a gunshot wound received Friday afternoon at Ninth and Swann streets, when he was shot by Ben Richardson, an old colored man.

A decision to begin work in the near future on making extensive improvements on the property of James Sprnt Institute at Kenansville is one of the important actions taken by the Wilmington Presbytery in session in that place, convened Tuesday and adjourned Friday. Rev. Dr. A. D. McClure, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, who was called home Thursday to conduct the funeral of Mrs. Ella K. Hill, stated that there had been the largest attendance at the annual meeting of any that he has attended in the Wilmington Presbytery.

An industrial enterprise, entirely different from anything that Wilmington has heretofore had, was started the past week when the hosiery mill at Fourth and Wright streets, built and owned by Mr. John H. Kuck, the well known capitalist of this city, was put into operation for the manufacture of a high grade hose at a reasonable price. While this is but the beginning of what Mr. Kuck expects to develop into one of the largest industrial enterprises in this section, it is the result of a close study of the subject extending over a period of 14 years.

The Board of County Commissioners Monday heard and took under consideration a request from the board of managers of the James Walker Memorial Hospital for an increased appropriation; authorized an appropriation of $750 to be used in defraying expenses in the campaign to secure the location in Wilmington of a branch of the Federal reserve bank at Richmond, Va., provided the campaign is successful; adopted a resolution appropriating $500 to be used at the discretion of the chairman in tracking down criminals and ferreting out crime, and transacted considerable other business.

A positive force feed machine, designed to spread fertilizer in an open drill and cover it.

The fertilizer is discharged on an adjustable scoop-shaped casting that spreads the fertilizer in a broad band, six inches or more wide. The hopper is made of galvanized steel, and holds one bushel, or about 65 pounds of fertilizer.

The agitator in the hopper insures the filling of the conveyor with all conditions of fertilizer, and will handle cotton seed meal to perfection.

With the usual mixture of cotton seed meal, acid and kainit, its capacity is 3 1-2 foot rows, 200 to 1,000 pounds per acre, (more per acre on narrower, and less on wider rows). It is easily regulated, and when gears are set for quantity wanted the feed never changes; not affected by the speed of the horse; up or down hill the same; is well made; light draft; does absolutely perfect work. Its success is attested to by representative farmers throughout the entire cotton belt; weighs about ninety pounds.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Director of Evening Department, The Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.)

LESSON FOR APRIL 19.

COST OF DISCIPLESHIP.

LESSON TEXT—Luke 14:25-35.

GOLDEN TEXT—"Whosoever would save his life shall lose it; and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake shall find it." Matt. 16:25.

While this discourse is recorded only by St. Luke, still there are many things mentioned here to which our Lord made reference on other occasions. Last Sunday's Easter lesson made a break in the sequence of lessons we have been following, and shall follow for several succeeding Sundays. Leaving the chief Pharisee's house wherein he criticized both host and guests, "great multitudes" followed our Lord. Turning, he uttered some of the severest and yet the most wonderful words that ever fell from his lips, as we shall see if we follow all of this part of our lesson series.

Multitude Rebuked.

I. A Caution, v. 26. On another occasion, John 6:26, Jesus rebuked the multitude which followed him. This multitude who pressed about him did not realize what was involved in a true following. They were influenced by the psychology of the crowd, and did not count the cost. Jesus does not mean that our discipleship will lessen our love for our kin (Eph. 5:25, 28-31; 6:1-4), but as compared with our love for him it is aversion. See Matt. 10:37; Phil. 3:7, 8; Ps. 73:25, 26. Aversion is to turn aside, and the Master told us that those who shall turn aside thus shall have an abundant reward, see Mark 10:28-30. Jesus Christ must be supreme in a Christain's affections. He who freely gave his own self (John 3:16, Phil. 2:8) has a right to demand a like devotion to himself, and as men have approached nearest to such a consecration he has exalted them. The Cross means the shame, sorrow, pain and death of self and all that lies in the pathway of loyalty and devotion to him. II Tim. 3:12, Acts 14:22.

II. A Challange, vv. 27-32. (1) The Instruction, v. 27. As if to make this caution more solemn, Jesus sets before the multitude the manner of his approaching death and the condition of discipleship. He here lays down the first declaration of the severe terms of discipleship, but explains the meaning of his words. There is a new meaning of this passage suggested by the Revised Version of v. 33, "so likewise" is rendered, "so therefore." Our Lord does certainly insist that those who build a tower or conduct a war must count the cost; so, likewise, they who follow him. But by this change the opposite thought is suggested, viz., that those who follow him must do so whatever the cost may be. (2) The Illustrations. (a) The builder of a tower, vv. 29, 30, and (b) The King at war, vv. 31, 32. Too often we present to men what is to be gained by Christian discipleship. The gain does outweigh the cost, but as wise builders we must present the cost side of the transaction.

Homely Illustrations.

III. The Conclusion, vv. 33-35. We have already indicated the conclusion towards which Jesus was leading with terrific logic, and by looking back to the first verse of the lesson we see what it was he was seeking to impress upon the minds of the thoughtless multitude. Again the Master uses one of those homely illustrations gathered from the common experiences of life which he employed so frequently to amplify or to drive home a great truth. There must be quality as well as devotion to this discipleship. Salt preserves from corruption, seasons insipidity, freshens and sweetens. These qualities are referred to abundantly by Scriptural writers. Salt is highly prized in the East. The spiritual man is presented also as being corrupt, Gen. 6:11; 8:21; Ps. 14:2, 3; Eph. 2:1-3. The remedy for this is the active presence of his disciples among their fellows. The true disciple is like salt with a good savor. On the other hand, salt that has lost its savor is not even fit for a dunghill, but is thrown out and trodden under foot of men. So our Lord sets aside that disciple of his who has lost his usefulness. This expresses our Lord's contempt and scorn of those who lack, not merely a certain kind of character, but those whose profession and appearance would indicate a better expectation.

This lesson presents the severity of the claims of Jesus. Irresistibly he drew the multitudes to himself. Witness the crowd following him as he leaves the house of the ruler. But he paused and by his teaching sifted them, and seemingly made it difficult to follow him.

What is the purpose of discipleship? It means co-operation. The work of the King is to build and to battle, so the disciple must wield both sword and trowel. He must set aside his interests and devote himself and all of his strength to the work and the warfare. We must not, as has been intimated, allow ourselves to imagine that these sayings of Jesus conflict with his tender words about the home or of men coming to him for rest (Matt. 11:28-30). The ultimate end of discipleships is that the surging restlessness of the multitude shall indeed find rest in him.

MOSTLY CONTEMPLATIVE

By T. W. Chambliss.

On the train the other day two men met and enjoyed a conversation quite a while together. One remarked to the other: "By the badge you wear, I notice that you were in the army."

"Yes, that's so. I served through the four years."

"Well, well, what were you, captain, colonel, or what?"

"Now to tell the truth," answered the other man, "to tell you the straight truth, I was a private—only a private."

"Well, give me your hand, you are the first man I have met in six months who was a private in the army."

Almost every town in the Old North State has an organization of a "boosting" nature and this is certainly a good idea. In addition, there should be in every town a strong "town spirit." Traveling around it is noticeable that this spirit is lacking in many communities. I dropped into a business establishment in one of the larger places one day. I was a stranger—it was my first visit to that city and this was my first acquaintance. After I had introduced myself, I remarked, 'You have a pretty good town here." I was surprised at the reply, "This is the worst town you ever saw—not worth a cent and work as hard as you please you cannot make anything out of it."

I was disposed to give him a little lesscn in boosting, and I did it. Such a pity that every man cannot see something worth while in his own home town and push it. I think that a man who cannot find something worth praising in his town should move and move quick. I like the Charlotte spirit. Every fellow pulling for the town.

Very few people know anything about the daily grind of a newspaper office. Still less of them know anything of the severe strain on the average daily newspaper man and hardly one man in a thousand who picks up his morning paper realizes the effort and expense connected with even a fairly good daily newspaper. Once in a while I hear men finding fault with the paper—it's policy or its appearance or its news columns. I wish, when I happen to hear those fault-finders, that they could just be on the inside a little while some night—long about midnight—the "A. P." wires clipping it off—the "specials" dropping in one by one—"copy" everywhere—not a question of what not to print or of what to print—but rather a question of getting it all in, if possible. Then I have wanted to get those same fellows up against the proposition in the business office. Making both ends meet, much less a dividend. By the way, just happened to think, The Observer did not suggest this paragraph, I am simply contemplative tonight.

Life is a puzzle after all. It is only a matter of a few years and then. Every life is made up of three periods. The past, the present and the future. The past—valuable for its failures which are warning beacons and should aid in the proper appreciation of the present. Every day of those behind us has its lesson and surely they were well learned. The future—a splendid field for the dreamer. Filled to the brim with air castles and glorious opportunities. Always better than the present—in imagination and contemplation. The present—glorious day. Twenty-four hours of possibility. How few of us realize the possibility of the present. This is the time for action. So easy to postpone until tomorrow—that season unachievable—the things of today—is the necessity of success.

A busy business man stopped in my office the other day. We chatted a while of business conditions, his business. When he came in his salutation was "Busy?" "Always busy." Well that is a fact and it is time for every man to be busy. These are busy times. The New Year is here. It means much, another year of possible success. It must be a better year than 1913—must be. Too many neglected moments in 1913. Too many misused opportunities—rather unused opportunities. But to return to my visitor. He said something and it struck me. It was this: I have the idea that the time for a man to grasp an opportunity is just as it comes to him—just before it reaches him. Now, that is a good way of putting it. It is too late to catch the opportunity when it passes. Men cannot get so good a grasp on it as when he faces it. Nineteen fourteen, make it great and still greater because of the splendid use of each day.

Talking about fault-finders. Strange how often the fault-finder is a "do-nothing" himself. Watch the people who complain and criticise others and you will usually find that they cannot "do" things themselves. On the train one day, sitting in the parlor car, the little group were talking. The train stopped. And it staid stopped quite a while. Then we began to grumble and complain and one man, a real smart man, commenced to tell how railroads should be run. He knew all about it apparently. I thought, in my innocence, that he must be a railroad man. I listened. Sometimes it is best to just listen. After a considerable time and this "real smart man" had told us exactly what and how—I timidly asked him:

"What road are you with?"

"I am not a railroad man," he replied. "I am a salesman."

Then I suggested that the people who were trying to run that road—the Southern—were specialists and were striving to run it up to the standard and I was sure that they would appreciate his service. They were looking for men who knew how.

That is a fact. The man who knows how is the man the world is looking for and he can draw a good salary. The trouble is that almost every man thinks he knows how to attend to the other fellow's business. Imagine a man who has spent twenty years selling groceries or dry goods taking the position as superintendent of a great railway system. Things would be in a tangle directly.

Talking about 'knowing how." I saw a negro man driving a mule. I do not know much about mules. To me, and I came from a country where they raise many mules, the mule was always intended for the other fellow. The negro was driving, or rather trying to drive the mule. The mule wanted to go east and the negro man wanted the mule to go the other way. He worked and argued and I stood and watched him. Finally the man turned to me and asked me to please go on away. I wanted to know "why." The man told me. "Boss, dis hear mule needs er kussin and I jest kaint kuss him while you are here."

I walked away. Looking back from the corner I noticed the mule and the negro going along quietly. The negro evidently "knew how."

One of my admirers is a boy. He came in to see me the other day and had a complaint to make. He said that I had told on him in the paper. He said that he was afraid that people would find out that he was the boy I had written about. Did you ever think about it? With too many of us it is not what we do, but what people think we do. Such a pity that we cannot always do right. If we will do the right thing then it will not matter what people think of us. Still it is human for every man to wish to be well thought of—and we are all human.

NEARLY THIRD OF MILLION.

Turned Into State Treasury by Insurance Department.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., April 11.—Commissioner of Insurance James R. Young paid into the State Treasury today $50,000, representing the balance of the revenue to the State through his department for the fiscal year ending April 1. This makes $329,546 total receipts for the year, a gain of $10,156 over the year previous. The highest receipts through insurance in any year prior to the establishment of the department of insurance was $34,000.

Commissioner of Insurance Young will leave next week for Chicago to attend the annual session of the National Association of Commissioners of Insurance. Mr. Young is president of the association.

At a meeting of the central committee leading the fight for the establishment here of a branch of the Federal Reserve Bank at Richmond, for the purpose of considering ways and means for carrying on the campaign, the Chamber of Commerce and the Wilmington Clearing House Association pledged appropriations of $200 each as their part of the initial expense.

How to Overcome a Bad Constipation

There Is a Mild Laxative That Will Bring Safe and Pleasant Relief Overnight.

MRS. N. FRANTZ.

It is only natural that the simplest of ailments should be the most general, and so we have a whole nation suffering from constipation and indigestion, for they are closely allied. But common as constipation is many people do not seem to know they have it. They will complain of headache, drowsiness or biliousness, all unconscious of the cause of the trouble.

You should have a full and free movement at least once a day. If you pass a day you are constipated, and the result will be that you will catch a cold easily or have a more serious ailment. To cure the constipation and forestall still graver trouble take a dose of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at night before retiring and by morning relief will come, without disturbance from sleep or any inconvenience.

Legions of people use it regularly in such emergencies, some of them formerly chronic invalids who had suffered from constipation all their lives. Mrs. N. Frantz, 67 Eighth St., Salem, Ohio, took physics for years, and, worst of all, without much avail. Finally, she began to take Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and today she is no longer troubled and eats what she likes. Many others will tell you that they have tried most things recommended for this purpose but have found Syrup Pepsin the only one always reliable. A bottle can be obtained at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar, the latter size being bought by families already familiar with its merits.

Syrup Pepsin is mild, pleasant-tasting and non-griping. Mothers give it to tiny infants, and yet it is effective in grownups. It is for everyone who suffers from any form of stomach, liver or bowel trouble, constipation, dyspepsia, biliousness, etc. Its action will so delight you that you will forever avoid harsh cathartics, purgatives, pills and salts.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

What Saving Means
The test of a man's ability to succeed is his Ability to Save Money.
The man that will not or can not save is sure to be branded a Failure.
But the man who can and does save is respected by those who know him and goes about with the mark of Success upon him.
He advances from one position of trust to another, always working higher.
It is not so much the amount saved as the fact that he can save that gives Confidence, Independence, Power and Success.
We urge all men to save and invite them to deposit their savings with us for Safety, Convenience and Profit.
